Life at Rock Island High

Youth, exuberant, radiant — a colorful never-ending pattern — what a theme on which to build a yearbook! To you, students of Rock Island high school, as representative of the youth of this nation, the future leaders of America, we dedicate the 1940 Watch Tower.

With youth as our theme, we hope we have achieved successfully portraying the year 1939-1940, both pictorially and editorially, as these young people have lived it.

Tumult, confusion — the chaos around us points only too well to the need of new leadership throughout the world. May we hope that the preparation we have received will enable us to take an intelligent and active part in this new leadership.

So, it is to youth, with his hope for the future, that we dedicate this book. May it serve as a pleasant memory of the year 1939-1940.

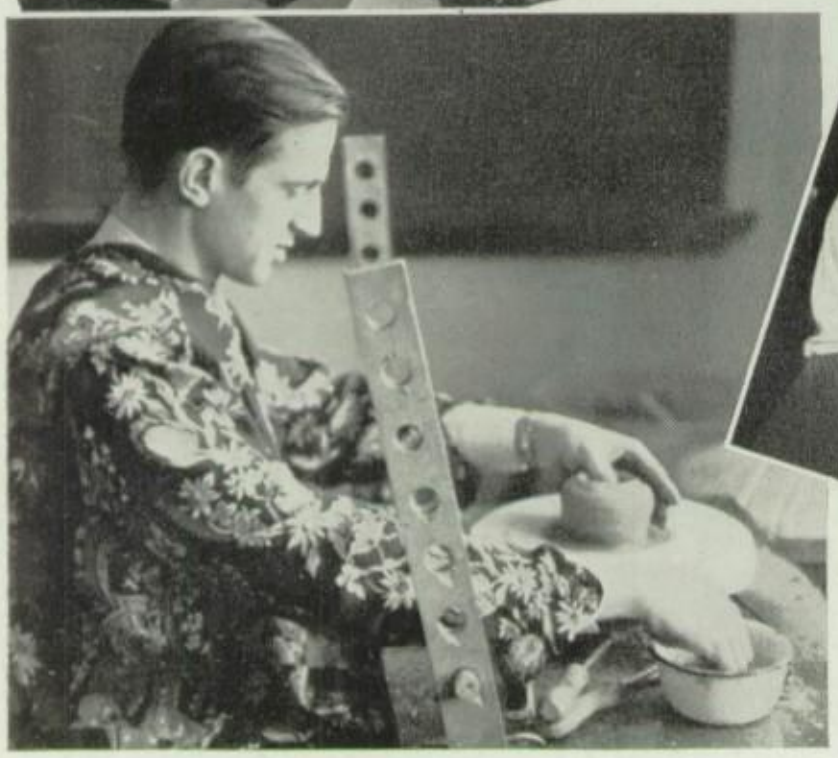
Varied and multiple are the activities at Rocky high. Opportunities to broaden one's knowledge, acquaintances, and skill are provided and easily achieved. Each part is fitted into its proper place as a stone in a wall or an arch in a bridge.

With a judge, jury, lawyers, and even a thief, the civics classes stage a mock trial in the activity room, learning how our courts operate while having fun at the same time. That is modern education!

Athletics and publications are only a few of the many after-school activities in which any one may participate.

Beyond the hills the sun slowly sinks from sight as, with class work and extra work finished, those people call it a day.

Yes, it is a great life—working and playing together, building a firm foundation. In the following pages, we shall see how many stones we placed and how many arches we erected in 1939-1940.



School is, after all, a place to work, to get some knowledge, so we won't have to take the "rap" when we are out in the world. Opportunities which many schools do not offer are found here. Typing, chemistry, and art are three examples. For reference work, we have our well-equipped library.

With sleeves rolled up and determination on their faces, once in a while the students do sit down and work. For proof, just look at the pictures!

As We Build a Foundation

Even the most tireless worker needs some relaxation, and it is not hard for Rock Island students to find ways of amusing themselves. Excess energy finds a release during lunch hour and in after-school activities. Washing dishes may not be some people's idea of play, but apparently these girls are enjoying themselves. "Get hot!" And with rhythm in their fingers the daily after school jam session swings into action in the band room.

Beautiful music, stirring lectures, side-splitting comedies—an example of some of the assemblies which the students enjoy. In a painless manner, much knowledge is gained through these programs, as well as relaxation provided.

Responsibility Falls On Them

Discussing the problems of Rock Island schools and policies to be followed are left to right: W. G. Murphy, J. G. Youngquist, Truman Plantz, Jr., Harry Denecke, C. F. Bauer, E. F. Burch, and Earl H. Hanson.

Superintendent of Schools Earl H. Hanson, always interested in the activities of Rocky high and popular with the student body, at work in his office in the Administration Building.

Administration Heads

Hand in hand Superintendent of Schools, Earl H. Hanson, and members of the school board are working to uplift the standards of education in Rock Island public schools. Noted for our fine building and progressive curriculum throughout the nation, they constantly seek ways of better preparing the student, through education, to take his place as an intelligent citizen of the United States.

Seeing that the student receives proper guidance is, then, one of their duties. Every year they hire new teachers as others leave. Financing the buying of new equipment and textbooks with which to aid the student is also part of their job. Another main duty which the board and Mr. Hanson perform is to serve as a centralizing power, governing all the public schools of Rock Island. Efficiency in management is one reason for the success of our school system.

With the welfare of the pupil at heart, these men give us the modern educational system we now enjoy. Surely, it is up to us to take advantage of it!

Put Them Together . . . Efficiency, Plus

Principal Owen B. Wright looks over a sheet of pupil activity programs.

Principal and Assistants

Infinite patience is an outstanding characteristic of Principal Owen B. Wright; dean of girls, Miss Georgia First; and dean of boys, E. S. Metcalf. The task of not only guiding the lives of some 1,300 students into useful respectable channels, but also of managing the high school, falls on the shoulders of these three people.

Through their example and aid the students learn how successful businesses and nations, too, must be administrated. Principal Wright handles the administrative problems while Miss First and Mr. Metcalf, as dean of girls and boys respectively, deal with student problems. Discipline cases, aid to needy students, counsel in selecting subjects and advice concerning jobs and colleges—these are only a few of their many duties.

With an alert faculty and governing board at the helm, Rock Island high school has progressed greatly throughout the past year. New records made, new courses inaugurated, greater student government, a more complete guidance and vocational program — these are some of the changes wrought by the faculty and administration heads.

Miss Georgia T. First, assistant principal and dean of girls, and E. S. Metcalf, dean of boys, reverse their duties for variety's sake.

Senate

Education alone can prepare the youth of America to successfully take over the reins of our government, continuing as the greatest democracy in the world; education—through textbooks and classrooms; education—through practical experience.

Experience is attained through the Senate, a representative body of the students. Here the students and faculty may meet on common ground to discuss new programs for Rock Island high school and exchange opinions on debatable problems.

Although the weather was reminiscent of spring, the Christmas spirit was active through Rock Island high school, as the gifts and contributions for the Senate's annual "Christmas project" poured in each home room during the week preceding the holidays.

President Margaret Brashar, secretary Maureen Pewe, and chairman Elaine Wright discuss plans with Miss First for the annual Christmas project.

Earlier this year the Senate sponsored a Red Cross campaign and the "Basketball." Several matinee dances were also held under its supervision.

Margaret Brashar, Jack Foley, and Maureen Pewe, as president, vice-president, and secretary respectively, led the club throughout the year.

Our travels through the world of studies begin in the language department. Starting in our homeland, we leaf back through the pages of time, recalling the men and women who have thrilled us with their tales and poetry of America. Showing us the way are Miss Doxey and Miss Westerlund.

With Mr. McIlroy in the United States, we take a peek into a thrilling business—the newspaper world—and then a glance at our present and future America with the Misses Schutz, Lauck, and Laraway in our New English course.

In our seven-league boots, we come to England where we meet Beowulf, Chaucer, and Shakespeare. Our guides are: the Misses Schutz, Lauck, Laraway, and Westerlund. Crossing the English Channel to France, we are met by Miss Malvina Caloine. With Miss Odenweller's and Miss Finley's aid we proceed to Germany.

Over the Alps lies Italy, whose capital, Rome, was once the center of civilization. We find ourselves back in that old Rome, full of myths, ruled by the Caesars. Our translators in this land are Miss Doxey and Miss First.

We also wander into the theaters, but through a different door this time—the stage door whose doorman is Miss Dorothy Peterson.

The bell! Let's follow some of the boys to their manual arts classes where they receive practical training for future positions.

The first stop reveals Mr. Clark wielding the ruler and triangle in his mechanical drawing class. Passing from there into the woodwork department, we watch Earl Peoples direct the boys as they create numerous articles for the home.

Down the back stairs and the noise tells us we are nearing the machine shop, ruled over by George ("Pop") Rausch. Moving on next door, we are greeted with a hearty handshake (if we are not a member of the Crimson Crier staff) by David J. Borth, the emperor of the printing department.

Science

Now to the fascinating world of science. The well-equipped science department, where we gain our thorough knowledge of "what makes this old world of ours go round," is a captivating place.

As sophomores, we are taught to understand life itself in biology. Helping us along are Miss Ethel Mae Krueger, Walter Kimmel, George Baird, and J. Hervey Shutts.

Then we advance into chemistry and physics—with Mr. Baird and Mr. Shutts respectively holding sway.

History

Now we join the parade of past and current events in the history department.

We begin in the Old World—Asia and Europe—with a few glimpses toward the end of the journey of this land of freedom. We are led this far by Julien C. Peterson, Mr. Scantlebury, and Mr. Metcalf.

Crossing the ocean with Columbus we discover an entirely new continent. Fascinated, we follow the pioneers of this great nation westward, through war, through peace, through all the trials and tribulations which constituted the rapid progress of America. Leading this great expedition are Miss Irvine, Miss Liebbe, Mr. Shantz, Mr. Metcalf, and Mr. Martin, who is shown in the above picture discussing the Russo-Finnish War with students.

As future citizens we should know something about our national problems. Through economics, civics, commercial geography and sociology we learn of the practical side of life in America. Mr. Metcalf, Mr. Martin and Mr. Shantz teach these courses respectively.

How to analyze and interpret news is taught in all history classes through the study of propaganda. Today, especially, youth must learn what constitutes truth or falseness in stories, speeches, and advertisements.

We pull back another curtain and lo! before us we have an entirely different world—the practical world of today and tomorrow.

First, the business world for which we are prepared by accounting, with Miss Stone and by a very thorough stenographic course with Miss Ekblad, Miss Miller, and Mr. Huckins.

Fine Arts

Fine arts! Music with Mr. Rozeboom, and the Glee Club and Mr. Berchekas and the Rocky high Band; art, including, besides the usual course, pottery and metal craft, with Miss McElhinney and Miss Casten; and, last of all, a course in preparation for the home of tomorrow, taught in home economics by Miss Maple and Miss Casten. All this constitutes the fine arts courses of Rock Island high school.

Physical Education

Play never hurt anyone, so after a long day of travels, let's stop by the gym and gain some relaxation. There such a multitude of activity is going on that we can do practically as we please. Volleyball and basketball are the principal winter sports, giving way to soccer, hockey, and touch football as the weather warms up. Badminton, ping-pong, and shuffleboard offer lighter but equally enjoyable games.

The art of self-preservation is a good thing to know, so fencing was introduced this year. To gain gracefulness, there is modern dance. Tumbling also is enjoyed by both boys' and girls' classes.

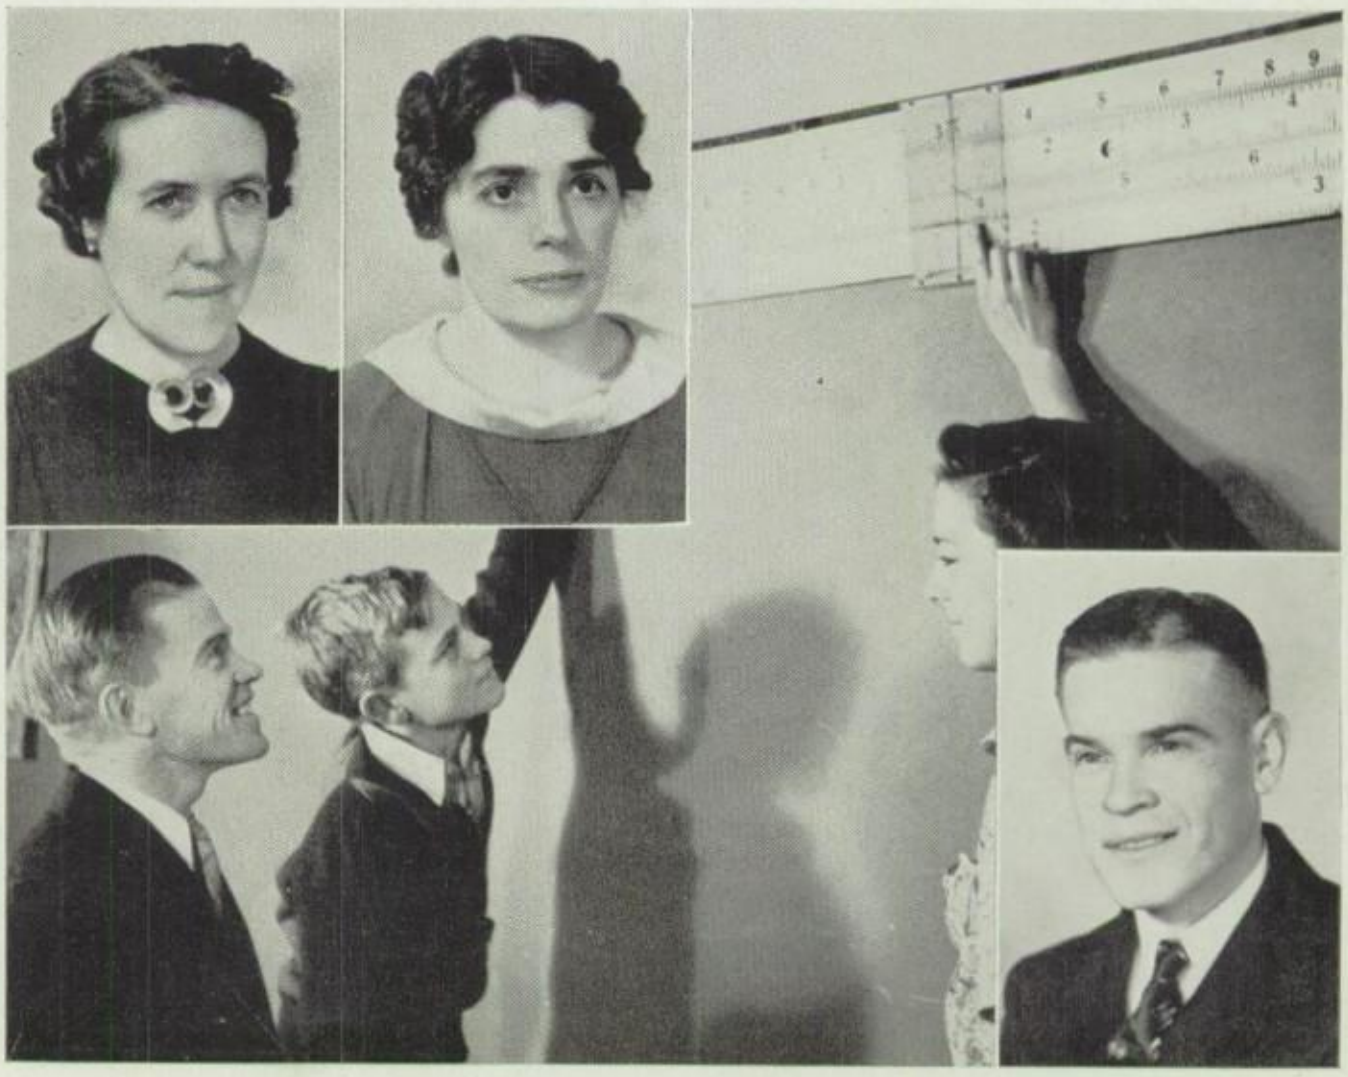
Too little is said about R. I.'s intramural program. Both boys and girls can come out every night to enjoy whatever sport they wish to participate in. "A sport for everyone and everyone in a sport" is the motto of the physical education department.

Mathematics

EVA ROBB, HAZEL PARRISH JULIEN C. PETERSON

From there we travel down the hall and around the corner into a bewildering realm of circles and triangles. From the bottom up, we go! First—beginning algebra in 9th grade; second, geometry taught by Miss Parrish; third, advanced algebra by Miss Robb, and solid geometry by Miss Parrish; and last the complicated trig and college algebra patiently explained by Julien Peterson.

As we rest before starting on the last lap of our journey, "Pete" explains the use of the fascinating slide-rule, shown in the picture.



ELIZABETH KOEHLER HELEN M. DOWNING

Office

When a student receives an official summons to come to the office, two elements which cheer him are the smiling faces of Miss Downing and "Elizabeth."

These two constitute an office force which might well be called "Jack-of-all-trades" because of the great variety of duties assigned to them. They must serve as a general information bureau, telephone operators, messengers, secretaries. They also have the extremely difficult task of keeping track of those bewildering beings called students. Attendances, absences, honors, and failures come under their supervision. Miss Downing's duties also include that of registrar.

We must also give a good deal of credit to the student assistants, who serve, in a manner, like stand-ins.

Study

All these classes are not enough, however; we need a library for references and study halls to work.

Our large and complete library is presided over by Bessie Bladel and Ruth Maucker.

Upstairs on second floor, we find Study Hall 218, where Anna Groth rules with a firm hand.

Climbing another wearying flight of stairs, we come to 309, which is a rather versatile study hall since it has a different keeper for each period. Several of our instructors hold court there as well as in their own rooms.

Many's the student that remembers the theme he had to write on "Why I Should in Study Hall" if he got too ambitious in 309!

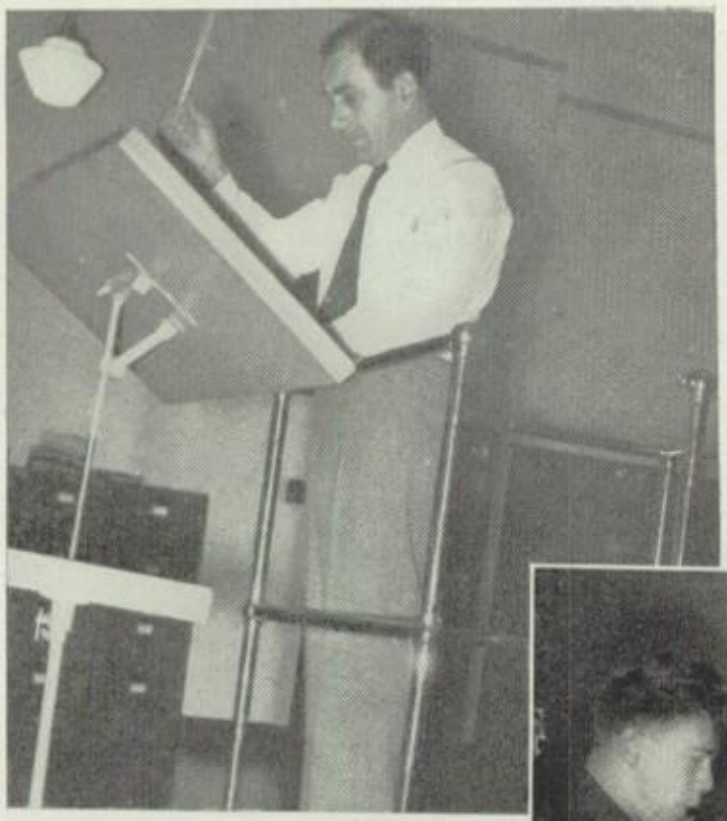
Band

From modern swing to stirring symphony—the band's versatility was proven at their eleventh annual fall concert when they went from "An Apple for the Teacher" to "Prelude in C♯ Minor" by Rachmaninoff.

Interpretive dancing by Beverly Eklund and Maureen Pewe in "Song of the Volga Boatmen" was an added feature. Beverly and Marilyn Kidd danced during the rendition of "Havana," a march.

With Don Davis directing, the entire band depicted a narrative story, "I'll Be Seeing You." Because the concert was presented near Christmas, December 16, as their final number the band played a Christmas medley entitled, "Joy to the World." The boy's quartet sang selections from this number.

Climaxing their highly successful year was the spring concert. "In a Monastery Garden" by Ketelbey was the featured selection. This number was repeated on request from the concert given last spring. The setting was a monastery garden amid birds and trees, with a background of monks chanting in low, sad tones. The number was played and sung by the robed junior band. "Old Man River," "The World Is Waiting for the Sunrise," and "The Turtle Waddle" (novelette), presented by the sousaphone section composed of Bill McCombs, Dick Brashar, Joe Schatz, Jean Buenzli, Jacquelin Johnson, and Beverly McComas, were only a few of the beautiful presentations concluded by Irving Berlin's stirring "God Bless America."



(1) Just a stick of wood or an instrument of such delicacy and precision as can move men to tears if in the hands of a master—such is a baton. "Ber" listens for the response of the band, to his latest whim, transferred to the members by the movement of a simple piece of wood.

(2) With deep concentration on their faces B. Rinck, V. Hankins, J. Wright, G. Westcott, B. Rolfe, and N. Baker try their best to polish up the last few scores before the concert.

In marked contrast, is the after-school jam session, which can be heard and seen almost every day at 3:30 in the band-room. Well, the kids have to relax some way from their strenuous morning activities.

(3) High-stepping, baton-twirling, blond Beverly Eklund leads the band down the field between halves of a football game. Playing at home games, the band succeeded in imparting "pep" to audience while coaches did same to boys "back stage."

(4) Student manager, Don Davis grows pensive as he looks over score. Educated since his sophomore days, Don Davis was ready to be "Ber's" right-hand man this year. Future student managers are chosen when sophomores because of the time required to be initiated into many duties, which include having complete charge of ticket sales and finances. Coming up are Dick Schieberl '41 and Jack Payne '42.

"Sing—it makes you happy!" And the Glee clubs nod agreement, bursting into song. Many and varied were their activities this year. Besides the two successful concerts, the young singers presented a program before 2000 delegates of the P. T. A. convention at the Armory on April 16. Their annual junior high tour went off like clockwork, and was enthusiastically received.

"Sweet Adeline" . . . Quartet Harmonizes

Glee Clubs

One hundred voices strong—with the largest beginning Glee club in its history, Director Wm. G. Rozeboom went right to work as soon as school started, preparing for the eleventh annual fall concert. Again smashing records, the highly successful concert was given before an overflowing crowd, November 16.

With much less formality, yet much more polished, the Glee clubs presented their second Musical Moods program April 12. Soft humming was heard as the curtain opened on a fully robed a-capella choir in the first mood, Worship.

A typical old sea captain, sailors' chanteys, tales of ships, and distant ports all created the adventurous atmosphere of the sea prevalent during the Nautical Mood.

Modern version of a formal entertainment composed the Twentieth Century mood.

In the final mood, Memories, a sweet gray-haired couple recalled the days of their youth, with the Glee clubs furnishing a musical background.

Ready, willing, and able describes the 1940 male quartet during the busiest year this organization has ever known. An impressive sacred production, arranged by Director Rozeboom, entitled "Hymn of Life" was presented by the male octet at ten churches.

This group was made up of Larry Tucker, Jack Bennett, first tenors; Buster Anderson, Bob Maurus, second tenors; Jerry Green, Charles Johnson, baritones; Blair Schafer, Ben Ingold, basses. Bill M. Johnson, shown in the picture, was later replaced by Jerry Green.

The boys were always on hand when they were needed, and they were called upon a great deal. Their versatility was proved by the variety of programs they offered. Many civic groups, clubs, and schools enjoyed their popular and humorous variations, while various churches were delighted with their moving interpretations of well-loved sacred selections.

Laurabelle Butler and Jerry Green blend their voices in the romantic duet, "Deep in My Heart." Janet Swanson is at the piano.

Buster Anderson, Larry Tucker, Bill M. Johnson, and Blair Schafer harmonize, with Donna Miers as accompanist.

Glee Officers

When melodious strains of "Deep Purple" come floating through the halls and suddenly the thrilling chorus of "Hallejuah" fills the air, you become aware that the light opera chorus is rehearsing again.

This popular group, made up of the thirty superior voices in the Glee Club, is well-known in the community for its musical ability.

The light opera chorus played an important part in the fall concert, singing the favorite "Italian Street Song," and "Deep in My Heart" among other light opera selections, and again in the spring Musical Moods presenting two scenes, Nautical and Twentieth Century.

Radio

"The Rock Island high school NEWS broadcast!" Once again over the air lanes R. I. H. S. is brought before the public, as a staff of reporters give the latest picture of activities at Rocky high.

"For up-to-the-minute news flashes on our athletics, we give you—Heber Darton." And Sem Brodsky, ace announcer, steps back from the "mike." Then: "News of the Northwest conference—Dick Coffin," or "Previewing the Crimson Crier—Harold Brack." These features alternate every other week.

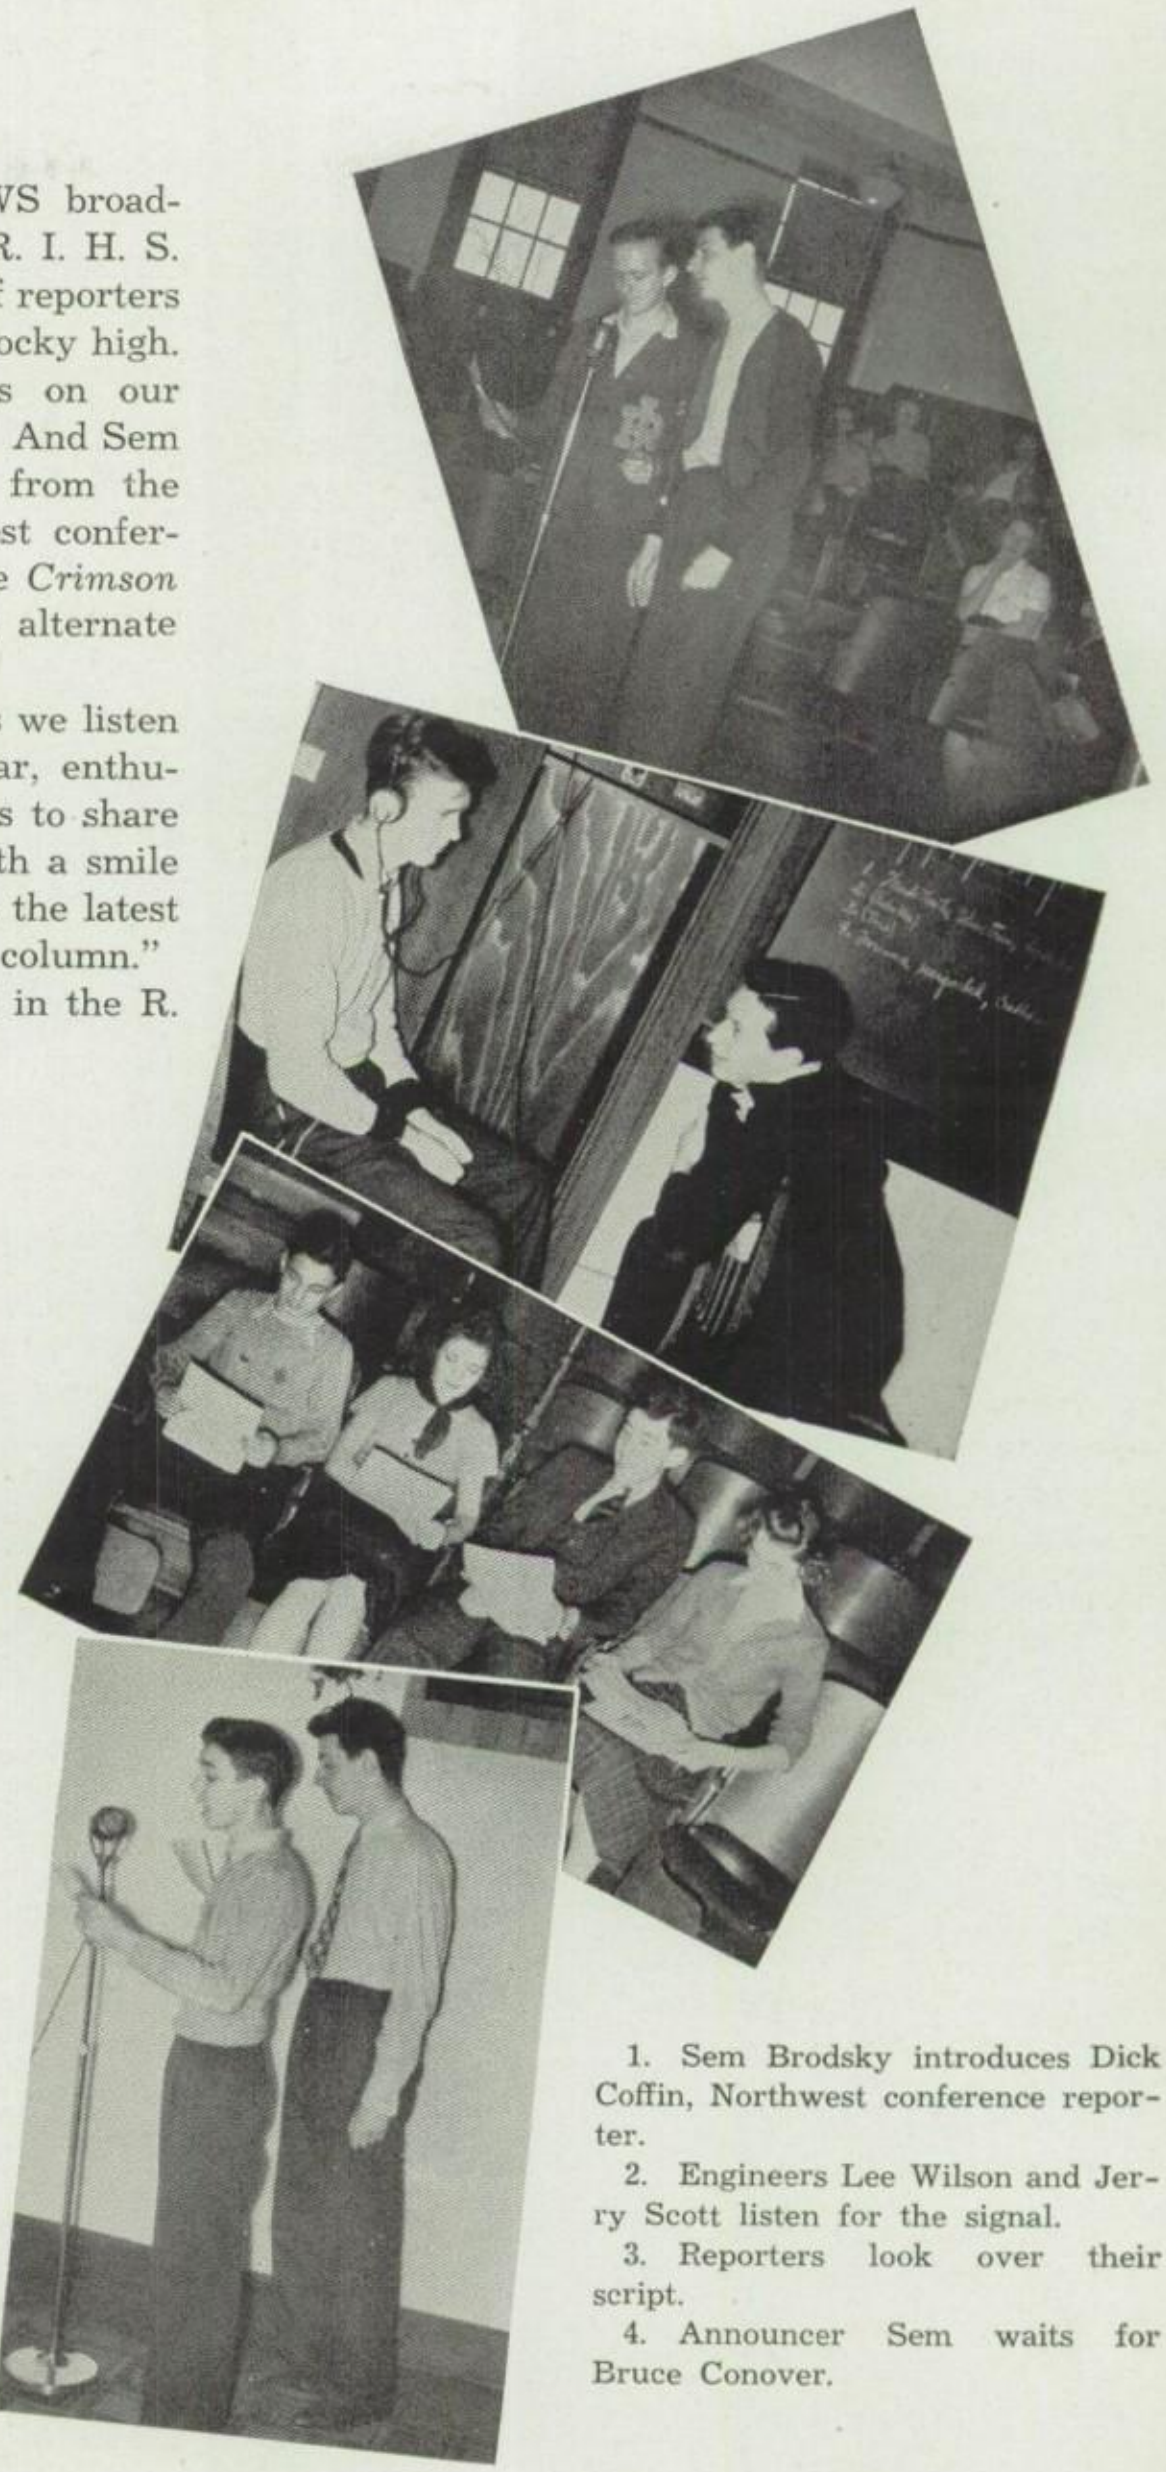
"Speech activities come to the fore as we listen to—Natalie Harris." "That ever-popular, enthusiastic music reporter has a lot of news to share this week. All right, Don Davis." "With a smile on her face, Dee Horst is all set to give the latest bits of news from her roving reporter column."

All phases of school life are covered in the R. I. H. S. news broadcast, aired every Thursday at 2 p. m.

Informative also, but of a specific rather than general nature, are the departmental programs heard every Tuesday. Clubs as well as departments of the school were given a chance to participate.

Slow, dignified—the chords of Alma Mater proclaim another music broadcast is about to be heard. Thrilling inadequately describes the programs. Not only did the Glee Clubs take part, but also the boys' and girls' junior glee clubs, the band, a string trio, and Bob Goodell's orchestra.

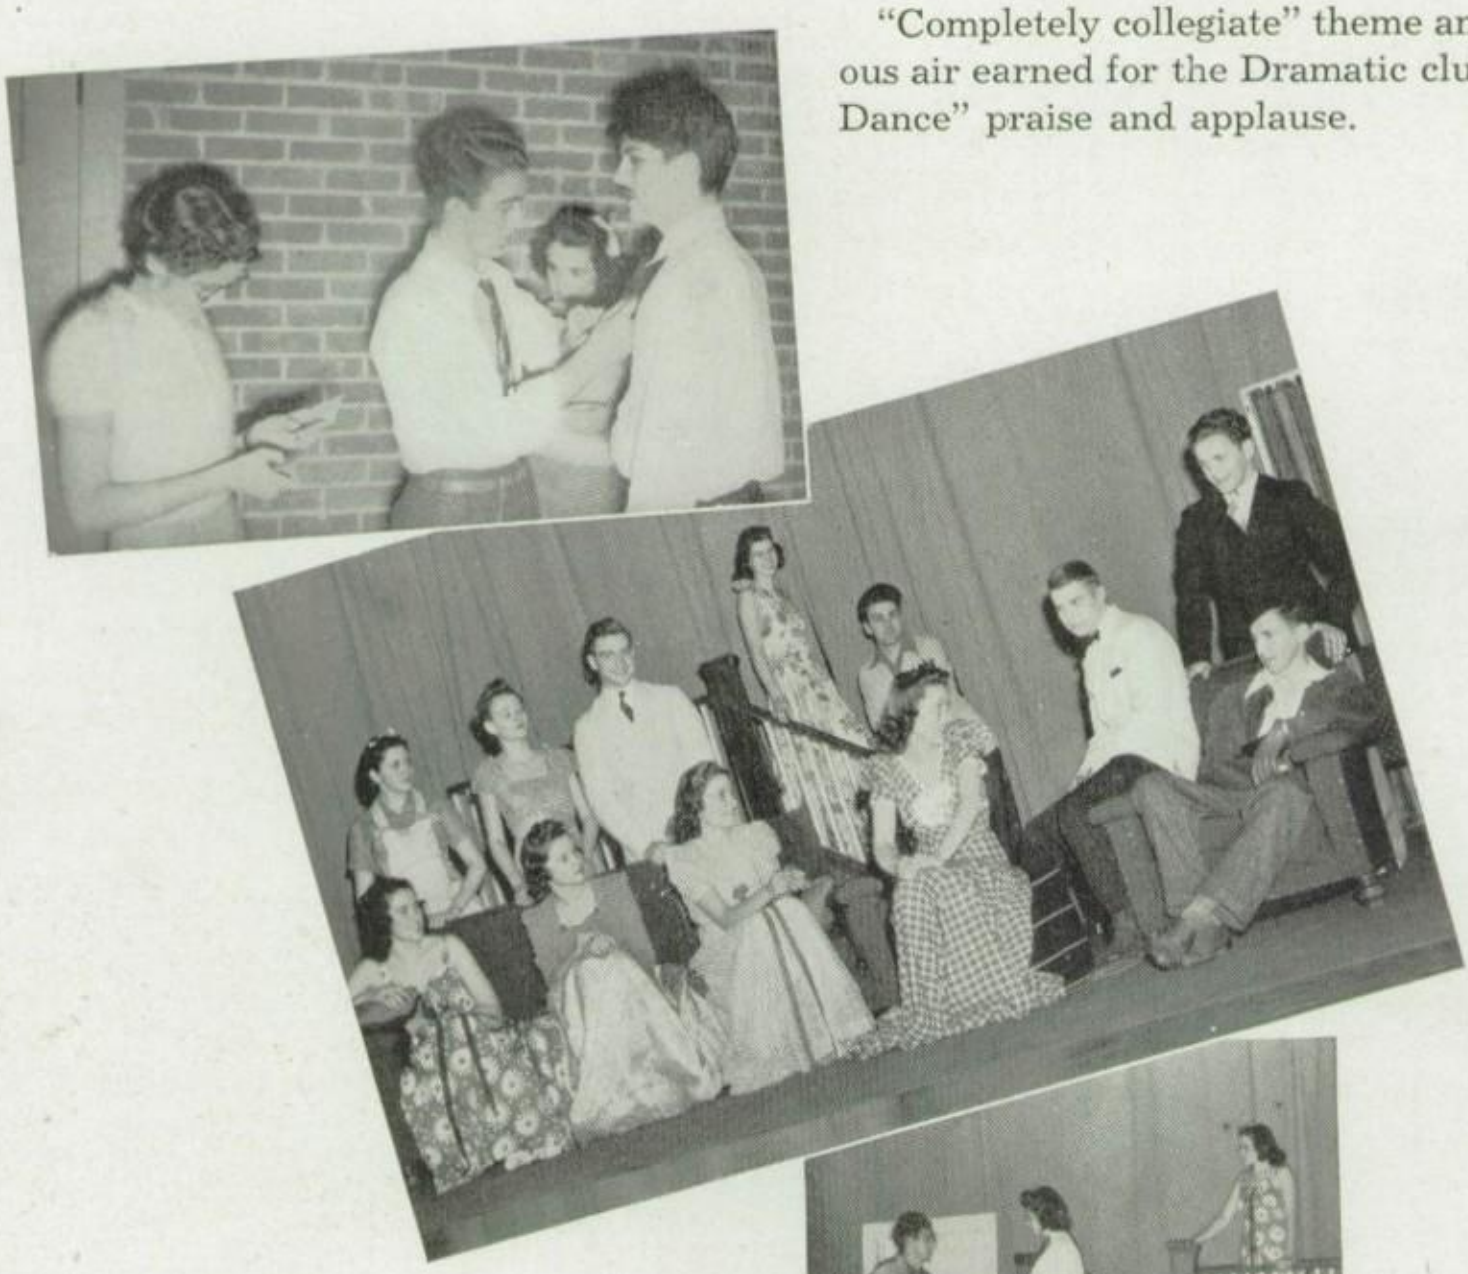
Student engineers, script writers, announcers, and timers handled every detail of all this broadcast work. The increasing ability to shoulder responsibility and to co-operate was well worth the work and time spent in preparing the programs, according to staff members.



1. Sem Brodsky introduces Dick Coffin, Northwest conference reporter.
2. Engineers Lee Wilson and Jerry Scott listen for the signal.
3. Reporters look over their script.
4. Announcer Sem waits for Bruce Conover.

"Spring Dance"

"Completely collegiate" theme and a gay, frivolous air earned for the Dramatic club play "Spring Dance" praise and applause.



1. Last minute backstage.
2. Entire cast.
3. "Are you coming with me or aren't you?"

The story concerns a number of New England college girls in general and one Alexandra—Alex—in particular. This young lady finds it very difficult to attract men, primarily because she feels as though "she looks like a horse with a fly on its nose," which is not true. Alex sets her heart on Sam Thatcher, a Yale man, who has turned against college and regimentation to set off for Russia with a free-thinking, free-living, rebellious companion, oddly called "The Lippincott."

When Alex appears not to get very far with the romance by herself, her girl friends decide to take matters into their hands to secure Sam for the sad and bewildered Alex. Sam finally capitulates, and he and Alex elope to the great delight of Alex's gang.

Mrs. Jones.....Frances Burns
Paul Jones.....James Carlson
Mary Jones.....June Krueger
Jack.....Richard Davis

Junior Class Play

"Happiness is like a kiss. You can not get any good out of it unless you give it to someone else." That is an example of the many joke lines that made "Applesauce," the junior class play, the delightful comedy and success it was.

"Applesauce" is a typical American comedy of small town folks. It is shown that "applesauce" (in other words, a cheerful optimism and the ability to tell other people how nice they are) will surmount most obstacles in this life.

Hazel Robinson has foolishly engaged herself to a young man called Jenkins. Actually she is in love with Bill McAllister, who, though hard up, wins out in the end and achieves not only success but happiness as Hazel's husband .

3. Grandpa expresses his philosophy of life

"You Can't Take It with You," the 1940 senior class play reveals an altogether American philosophy of life. The play shows the amazing and lovable Sycamore family, in their many and varied moods. Headed by Grandpa Vanderhof, who has long since learned how to get the utmost pleasure out of life, the Sycamore household constitutes a living commentary to the truth that the time to enjoy life is now, for "You Can't Take It with You!"

At first sight, the Sycamores seem extravagantly mad, but it is not long before we realize that if they are mad, the rest of the world is madder.

In contrast to these delightful people are the unhappy Kirbys, typical examples of the unhappy rich.

"If the Government Took the Railroads . . ."

Debate and Extemp

Members of the extemp team for 1940 were: Row 1: J. Swanson, D. Zimmer, M. Brashar, O. Harris, H. Davis, F. Krantz, and N. Avrick. Row 2: G. Roudebush, B. McCaffree, C. Marshall, C. Bergendoff, B. Schroder, L. Condon. H. Brack not shown.

"If the government should own and operate the railroads, we won't have any government, let alone any railroads," claim the negative. "But, ladies and gentlemen, don't you see how utterly ridiculous that statement is?" demand the affirmative. Railroads were very near the hearts of the debaters during the debate season, and lights burned late in P. J. Martin's room as they learned the illnesses of the roads and how to save them. The team won 17 out of 30 debates, tying for fourth in the Augustana Tournament and placing fifth in the Northwest Conference.

First in Northwest Conference in extemp! Once again Rock Island high demonstrated its ability as Louis Condon walked off with undisputed first place at the Northwest Extemp Conference held here March 29. The team also won a contest with Moline held earlier in the season. While in debate, one special problem is studied, in extemp, one must be able to speak on any one of 24 topics concerning current events. Not only the speaking ability, but also the general information the pupil receives makes extemp a valuable study.

"I Beg of You, Ladies and Gentlemen"

Declamation

Hours of practice well repaid the boys and girls on this year's "dec" team, for they took six tournaments in their stride. Don Davis, Northwest conference representative, placed second, bowing to Moline.

The girls' team composed of Connie Magnusson, Elaine McMutrie, Beverly Hallgren, Sylvia Marcus, Louise Norton, Ruth Harriet Koch, Natalie Nyman, Lelene Gellerman, and Hallie Davis listen to Virginia Beechler declaiming. In the middle left picture Louise, Sylvia, and Lelene look over the judges' decisions, while across the way Don Davis pleads for tolerance. Louise, Sylvia, and Lelene got to the finals in the Davenport tournament.

They Burned the "Midnight Oil"

Watch Tower Editorial Staff

Youth, working and playing today, preparing to take responsible positions as citizens later, is an informal, vibrant subject indeed. Because of this, "informality" is stressed throughout the annual.

Co-operation, need of planning, of looking ahead, quickness and keenness in judgment are only a few traits that a position on the annual develops in a staff member

Editor-in-chief Janet Swanson had the huge responsibility of making picture and copy assignments. Her job consisted in seeing that the deadlines were met and that the material submitted was acceptable.

The bottom picture shows the assistants to the division heads as they look over some other high school yearbooks. Standing, from left to right are: Harry Althouse, publications assistant; Betty Maloney, speech assistant; Betty Reynolds, typist; and Virginia Cook, organization assistant. Those seated are: Dolores Horst, typist; Mildred Diercks, typist; and Hazel Soady, picture assistant.

By a strange photographical phenomenon the WATCH TOWER photographers have managed to get themselves "shot" as they are applying their technique. Natalie Harris and Bernard Sabath have crept up on the unsuspecting Jackie Wich, assistant sports editor, and Marvin Pesses, photographer, as they are looking over some pictures for the athletic department.

"Buy An Annual . . . Or Else"

Watch Tower Business Staff

Headed by Charlotte Russ, the business staff labored to make the WATCH TOWER a financial success. Although the advertisements and other business features are not generally considered important by most people, it would be impossible to have an annual without them.

By using your imagination a bit perhaps you can picture the sleepy-looking people in the photograph working toward their goal of one thousand dollars worth of advertising for the annual. The person selling the most advertising in an ad-selling contest was appointed advertising manager. Zalman Gellerman received this position.

In the center picture Charlotte Russ and Zalman Gellerman are looking quite pleased at the graphic record of advertising sales. The graph not only indicates the rising sales, but also shows the ready and willing spirit of the staff.

This year, under the management of Hal Yingling, more annuals were sold then ever before—a total of some 900.

The smiling faces in the lower picture demonstrate the cheerful attitude struck by members of the circulation staff while performing their duties. One of the chief reasons for their smiles is the clever advertising assembly which they presented in November. Descriptively called, "Drama Takes a Holiday," the skit pointed out the importance that the WATCH TOWER may play in the lives of the students in the future.

Those in the picture are: Patricia Lucas, June Krueger, Alice Schafer, Helen Halpern, Betty Burke, Lelene Gellerman, Lois Crompton, Dorothy Peterson, Marge Holmes, Bernice Leman, Cleone Van Horn, Alice Welliver, Doris Eng, and Margaret Brashar. Hal Yingling, the circulation manager, and Bette Horst were not present.

Crimson Crier (fall)

"Deadline, deadline, tomorrow's the deadline!" Over and over with monotonous regularity these words keep repeating themselves, until finally, they are burned deeply into the soul of the reporter. And, believe it or not, he obeys them! Punctuality plus is the most rigid law of journalism. How well our staffs obeyed it can be seen by the fact that the Crimson Crier appeared right "on the dot" every other Friday.

Punctuality is one of the best assets one can have in later years, and journalism teaches the students the value of doing things on time instead of waiting till the last minute.

As the year advanced new columns and additional features were added. No less personages than Governor Henry Horner and Actress Deanna Durbin sent Christmas greetings to the student body. The past crept out of the private lives of members of the faculty to confront the student body in the column devoted to a biographical sketch of a faculty member on the front page of every issue.

Crimson Crier (spring)

With the world moving forward so rapidly, the Crimson Crier staff decided they could not sit by and do nothing. What to do? And then they had an idea that is truly representative of the progress made in newspaper work. Preview the Crimson Crier over the news broadcast every other Thursday, which is the day before the paper comes out. Up-to-date news flashes from the Crimson Crier were given by Harold Brack, a reporter.

Graduation is much closer to the seniors during spring than fall. Realizing this, the staff inaugurated a new column entitled, "Vocational Guidance," to aid seniors in deciding the career they would follow after school days are over.

Hectic days are the rule in the journalism room for one week, while the staff busily writes and prepares the paper. Then comes the lull when the Linotype Company sets it up. From linotyping, it goes to the print shop. Students taking journalism not only learn how to write, but also gain an insight into the workings of the printing department.

Imagine, if you can, how a printer must feel when he gets an unexcused absence or tardy slip that he helped print! There are two sides to every question, though, and the pleasant one to this is the glow he must experience when he reads an issue of the Crimson Crier or the English Magazine. Programs for dramatic and musical events at the school, advertisements for the athletic department, even report cards, and the work pads used in the English classes are all included in the printer's stride as well as printing jobs for the grade and junior high schools.

The printers also learn bookbinding, and they bind all the magazines for the Rock Island schools.

Equipment in the print shop includes three platen presses, one cylinder press, a metal cutter, a stitcher, a proofpress, a router, and a bookbinder.

To develop appreciation of the art in printing; to create and foster a wholesome respect for books; to prepare for effective entrance into the printing trade; and to give an opportunity to turn out a product of use, beauty and value—these are the objectives of the printing course.

English Magazine

Everyone in school has a chance to see his writings in print, because all the selections used in the English Magazine are chosen from material contributed in the English classes. The job of choosing the cleverest, most worthwhile and most original of these contributions is undertaken by the English Magazine committee. This year the committee was chosen from among the members of the new creative writing class, taught by Miss Sarah Laraway. The purpose of the magazine is to serve as an incentive for student writers. About two hundred and fifty articles were read before the material used in the magazine was selected. The committee was composed of two seniors, Bernard Sabath and Shirley Kiefer, and three juniors, Marilyn Johnson, Louise Norton, and Gerald Green.

Miss Sarah Laraway, editorial adviser of the magazine, is assisted by Miss Carolu Schultz, circulation and financial manager. David J. Borth is technical adviser.

Here is a selection from the English Magazine:

A SUNNY SUMMER MORNING

Don't look; close your eyes and smell—
the sharpness and freshness of the air,
the warmth of the rising sun,
the lively strength of the grass,
the lazy, yellow sweetness of the clover,
the ripe, sleepy heaviness of the wheat,
the damp, perfumed coolness of the woods,
the heat of the light, slow wind.
And now look—
and see how unexpectedly,
how very blue is the sky.

One of the greatest honors bestowed upon a senior is membership in the National Honor Society. Members must not only be in the upper third of the class, but also have been outstanding for their leadership, service, and character.

One hundred seventeen students were in the upper third of the graduating class. These students voted for candidates. A faculty committee of five made the final decision. Seventeen boys and seventeen girls were chosen.

Dramatics, speech and forensics, clubs, journalism, athletics, science, music—all members have been outstanding in one or more of these fields, as well as others.

Officers were: Don Davis, president; Floyd Brown, vice-president; and Maureen Pewe, secretary.

Boys' Hi-Y

"To create and maintain throughout the school and community Christian standards of conduct" is the aim of the Boys' Hi-Y. Through their Grade Y clubs this aim is brought to the children in the grade schools. Lenten services during Holy Week in which the boys collaborated with the Girls Hi-Y put this principle into practice in high school. The clubs hope to make this a traditional service. It was inaugurated last year.

Meetings were held semi-monthly at the Y. M. C. A. with evening meetings alternating with pot-luck suppers. A highlight was the Christmas meeting where a comic movie was featured.

Dick Pirmann headed the club this year with Bob Lundstedt as vice-president, and Frank Deyo as secretary-treasurer. Cabinet members included Bill M. Johnson, Louis Wilson, Hal Yingling, Dale Holmgrain, Jim Bateman, Bill Rinck, Henry Carlson, and Cliff Myers.

Mr. Metcalf, Mr. Huckins, Mr. Peoples, and Mr. Burch are the sponsors. Mr. Burch is the Boys' Hi-Y secretary at the Y. M. C. A.

"To promote Christian girlhood in high school and friendship among the girls" is the aim of the Girls' Hi-Y, as its emblem, the triangle, with the three sides representing mind, body, and spirit, portrays the three sides of a girl's life.

Solemnity, beauty, and dignity characterized the Lenten Services held in the Little Theater with the co-operation of the Boys' Hi-Y. The spirit of Holy Week was aptly portrayed through songs and Scripture readings at these morning meetings, only 15 minutes long.

Girls' Hi-Y Cabinet

In candlelight, the impressive recognition service of Girls' Hi-Y was held early in October. Afterwards, the girls mingled informally as tea was served with Virginia Beechler, president, and Elaine Foley, secretary, pouring.

Under the supervision of the cabinet, plans and policies for Girls' Hi-Y are drawn up. Meeting every other Wednesday at the Y. W. C. A. these girls are responsible for the success of Girls' Hi-Y this year. Each girl is in charge of one phase of Hi-Y work.

In the spring, a young girl's fancy turns to—clothes! Realizing this, Dorothy Zimmer, program chairman, scheduled a spring style show, which delighted the eyes of the audience. Posing are Sherry Gutzwiller and Mary Ellyn Olson.

Undoubtedly, the most successful of all the activities sponsored by Girls' Hi-Y this year were the Lenten Services, held each morning in the little theater during Holy Week. Through Scripture and song the beautiful Lenten story was brought before the audience. Buster Anderson, Laurabelle Butler, Charlotte Russ, and Ben Ingold made up the quartet here pictured.

Let's take a journey in our seven-league boots through the far-off lands represented by our language clubs. First, we go to Mexico, where Spanish is spoken, then on to South America. Not satisfied with the "children," we cross the sea to the old "mother" country, Spain. Fascinated by the warmth and hospitality of the country, we are loath to leave.

Across the Pyrenees to France with tales from Les Miserables ringing in our ear—this beautiful country is a mecca for many tourists and its capital, Paris, stands out like a beacon light. Small, unknown villages enchant us with their naive charm, but cosmopolitan Paris has an equal pulling power.

A journey up the Rhine finds us in the land of castles, forests, bustling industrial cities and small mountain villages. Germany is a fascinating land, both the old and the new, as the members of the German club soon find out.

Land of ruins amid progress—history of the ancients interpreted to guide present leaders. That is Latin. Not only is an important historical and cultural foundation secured, but also many valuable lessons in government are given.

Songs and games are enjoyed at the monthly social meetings of the clubs. The Spanish and French club also hold one meeting a month purely for educational purposes. Each member tells something relating to the country studied.

"Calling—all amateur actors, directors, and technicians. The Dramatic club has a place for you!" An appreciation of, not only the art of drama, but also the work that goes into a good production is soon gained through this club. "Spring Dance," the annual Dramatic club play, provided an opportunity for such an understanding, for every member had a "finger in the pie." One-act plays, presented at each meeting, gave another chance for the revealing of talents. To relax, the club took a "busman's" holiday and went to a movie for their annual spring party.

Another feature of this year's Dramatic club activities was the Christmas party. After the formal program, everyone adjourned to the activity room for refreshments and dancing.

Dramatic club members will long remember the satire on women, as presented in the one-act comedy, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do" at the April meeting. Members of the cast were: Louis Condon, Bob Hood, Don Davis, and Bob Rolfe.

Dramatic honors were given to Virginia Beechler, Betty Horst, Don Davis, Bill M. Johnson, and Bob Rolfe.

Mary Ellyn Olson, treasurer; Don Davis, president; Elane Ryan, secretary, and Jim Meriweather, vice-president, go into a huddle over new members for Dramatic club. The Misses Lyal Westerlund and Dorothy Petersen are faculty advisers.

Black Hawk Tribe

Pride in community and nation is a requisite to good citizenship. Knowledge is a foundation to pride. Realizing this, Black Hawk Tribe, social studies group, plans its program to foster the students' interest in current events.

Dignity flew out the window, though, at the annual Christmas and initiation party, when the Indians forgot their civic problems and concentrated on how best to torture the future braves. Corn-pone bread and steaming venison—modernized into chicken a la king for the famished braves and squaws, with a song-fest climaxing the banquet instead of a peace-pipe.

The call of the wild is too great to resist for these native Americans, so in the spring they went back to the woods on their annual spring picnic.

Little-known incidents of early Rock Island and Illinois were featured in the regular departmental radio broadcast which was given by the tribe, April 30. For example, did you know the first permanent white settler in Rock Island was Col. George Davenport?

Black Hawk Tribe officers discuss what the next program shall be. Seated: M. Holmes, keeper of birch-bark and wampum, M. Brashar, chief; L. Dohrn, refreshment chairman. Standing: D. Zimmer, social chairman; H. Yingling, sachem, and V. Cook, program chairman. D. Holmgrain, business manager, and C. Erickson, attendance, not shown. Mr. Martin and Mr. Shantz sponsor the tribe.

One hundred fifty-two Indians make up the tribe, of whom juniors and seniors must be invited. Interest in local and national affairs is a requirement for membership.

Small Clubs

"Action, not words" is the slogan of these small clubs. Here is ample opportunity for youth to develop a feeling of responsibility, while having fun at the same time.

First on the list are the Monitors, whose duty it is to see that the halls of R. I. H. S. are free of any stragglers and to assist strangers around the building. Jim Bateman and Mildred Wright were the chief monitors this year.

Sophomores! Here is your club—with a "sophomores only" sign hung on the door. Not only do our newest citizens learn about Rocky High, but also many new friends are made during the social meetings of the Alpha club. Miss Parrish and Miss Odenweller are the sponsors.

"Sailing, sailing over the bounding main" is the theme song of the Mariners. Perfection in tying knots, hoisting sails, and anything that makes up a superior sailor is attained at their semimonthly meetings. Twice a month the sailorettes swim at the Lend-A-Hand.

"French, chemistry, civics may be all right, but man must eat to live," say the Home Ec girls. Sewing is their specialty, too, as well as studying all the other phases of home management. Theories learned in class are put into practice at their meetings where they serve refreshments and model clothes.

Camera and Lettermen

To develop an interest in and increase the ability of the members in photography, both as an absorbing hobby and as a profession, is the purpose of the Rock Island High Camera club.

All the students in school have gained an interest in photography from the displays from colleges, universities, and professional camera clubs which, through this club, are placed in the art corridor.

Officers for this year were: Bernard Sabath, president; Natalie Harris, vice-president; Jack Wright, secretary, and Bud Metcalf, treasurer.

The Rock Island Lettermen's Club was formed two years ago under the supervision of Coach W. E. Scantlebury. It is an organization of which R. I. is proud. The Lettermen aim to further athletic spirit among each other and to promote social fellowship.

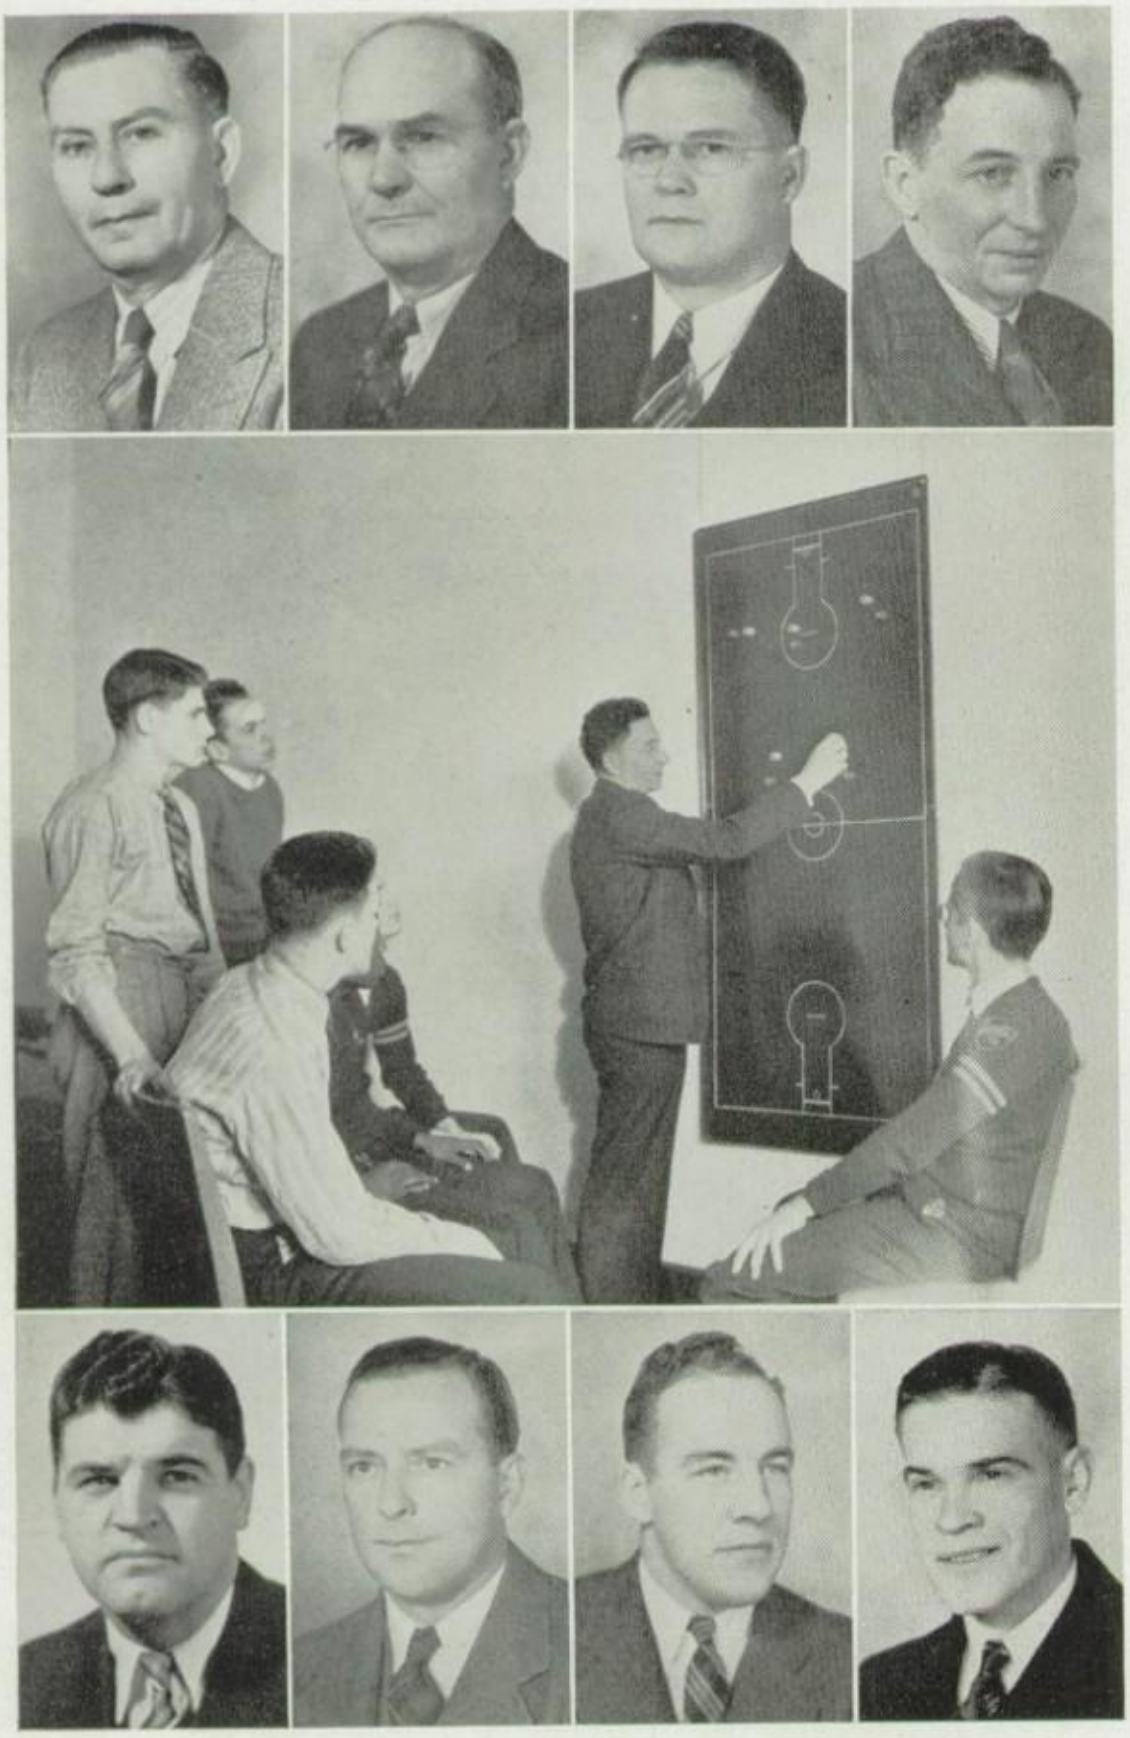
Coaching Staff



Clark, Kimmel, Shutts, Scantlebury, Glick, Greene, Anderson, Peterson

Rock Island high school's coaching staff has done a fine job this year, as usual, and has turned out some of the best teams that the Crimson and Gold has seen in quite a while.

First of these to be congratulated for their fine job during the past school year is head coach Wilbur E. Scantlebury, better know as "Scan." When school opened last fall, Scan was busy getting his football team into shape for the coming season. A record of the season is ample proof that he did a good job. The Crimson grid squad lost only one game by more than six points, which was to Tilden Tech, one of the strongest teams in Chicago.

He came to Rock Island three years ago, and has been turning out better teams as time goes on, boosting the Crimson grid standing in the Northwest conference to second, and tying Moline. But football is not the only sport that Scan coaches. Emphatically not! This year's basketball squad is one of the best in the history of the school, due to the efforts of Coach Scan. Last year he took them, with only one veteran among the candidates, and turned out a team that came in third in the Northwest running. When a veteran team returned for him this year, he produced a Northwest and Quad-city champion.

Well known among coaching circles in this territory is Walter Kimmel, who has charge of the track team. This year, he has a veteran team returning, and will probably turn in a repeat performance of last season when his charges went right on through to take Northwest and District meets, and as a result of the latter win, thirteen boys went to state.

Among other coaches is J. Hervey Shutts, who has handled the netmen for many successful seasons. Lester Glick and Julien C. Peterson have both lent invaluable aid to Scan by getting the newly arrived sophomores into condition for future varsity competition both in football and basketball. Dick Anderson, a newcomer to the Rock Island coaching staff, aided Coach Scantlebury during the football season by tutoring the line, and during the basketball season he takes charge of the junior varsity squad

Last but by no means least, is Kenneth Greene, boys' physical education instructor and coach of cross-country and wrestling. He is in the habit of producing championship cross-country teams, but this is only the second year that he has had charge of wrestling, and already he has proved capable of handling it, bringing them through the season with only two losses.

Going up! This year's football team continued the Rock Island climb toward first in the Northwest conference race, and set a high goal for the future grid squads to shoot at.

The high light of the season was the last game with Moline, which ended in a nothing to nothing tie. It was a typical Moline–Rock Island contest, hard fought and closely contested. Each team had one try at a touchdown, ending up on their opponent's ten yard line, but neither team was able to apply the final extra push. Even though it was not a material victory for the Islanders, it gave them a moral victory which enabled the basketball teams to come through with wins during the cage season.

The Crimson tide started off the season with two tough games in Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, and Tilden Tech of Chicago. The former ended in a 6 to 0 win for the hosts. Then in the second game, the Islanders suffered their second and worst setback of the season against Tilden, which ended 22 to 0.

Against Monmouth, however, they came back strong to register their first win in fine style, 25 to 6. The following Friday evening they clashed with their first Quad-city rivals, and after a bad first quarter, when the Blue Devils hung up the only touchdown of the game, they settled down to some good playing. In the closing minutes of the second quarter they came within two feet of a touchdown only to be foiled by the timer's gun.

Still going strong, the Islanders travelled to Kewanee for their next battle, which ended in a 14 to 7 victory for them. In that game Duke Lindeman made one of his two sensational 80-yard runs. Galesburg invaded the Islander camp to gain revenge for their loss of the year before, and did so in a pouring rain that made the field a sea of mud. The only touchdown of the game was scored by Galesburg, even though the Rocks played one of their best games of the season.

St. Joe and Rock Island then tangled for the city crown with the Rocks defending, and the Shamrocks challenging. The Crimson tide went to town and piled up a 30 to 0 score before the final gun went off. The highly touted Shamrock passing attack was entirely bottled up, while the defending champs filtered through the St. Joe defense with power plays and passing to throughly defeat the challengers.

Armistice Day found the Islanders meeting their second Quad-city rival in Soule Bowl in East Moline. Rock Island fans went wild as Duke Lindeman took the opening kickoff and twisted and turned and dodged 80 yards for his second long run of the year. This feat was overshadowed by a long march down the field that ended in the tying touchdown, and the game finished 6 to 6.

Every year, a new group of green sophomores enter the portals of the Rock Island high school, and among them are the athletes of the junior high schools of the city. Most of them are still interested in football when they enter the high school. Julien C. Peterson and Lester Glick are not ones to let hopeful talent go to waste. As a result we find these two coaches out on the practice field every afternoon after school during the football season coaching a bunch of hopefuls in the art of high school football.

Many of these when they advance into their junior and senior years spend their afternoons working with the varsity squad, and carrying the load of winning for the Crimson and Gold. Sometimes, they are good enough to make the varsity right off the bat, but this is very unusual. If they don't, they spend the season under the capable direction of one of the two aforementioned coaches, preparing for two years of varsity competition.

Evidently both Mr. Glick and Mr. Peterson do a good job if the record of the varsity team in the last two years has any bearing on the job. The sophomore record itself is nothing to keep hidden, since they came through with the Northwest conference crown when the final accounts were added up, and with some bad luck in the Quad-city they had to be content with the second spot on the athletic parchments.

The bad luck that was mentioned in the last paragraph was some that happens to every team once in a while. Unknowingly, they played an ineligible player, which caused the forfeiture of two of their games, one of which they lost anyway, but the other was a serious blow, since they had to give it up to the Moline underclassmen, who took the nod with this easy-come win.

In Northwest play, the Islanders came through with victories over every foe, including one over Galesburg, who up until that time had been undefeated, and remained in that state after their loss to the Rocks.

While on the subject of the less-known football teams, recognition should go to the junior varsity team under the coaching of Walter Kimmel. Although their record this season was nothing to brag about, the experience that they received will be valuable to them next fall when they report for varsity squad competition.

Basketball proved to be the high light of the sports activities this year. The team came up, after a display of mediocre basketball during the first of the season, and piled up a seven-game winning streak before they finished their regular playing season. During the whole season, they came out on the long end of the score in 12 out of 17 starts. In the tournament competition that followed, they were runner-up in the Regional held in the Rock Island gymnasium, losing to Moline. In the Sectional elimination held in the Moline field house, they won out over what the experts termed the second best team in the tournament, Abingdon, and then beat Aledo in the semi-finals, only to lose to Moline for the second time in tournament competition.

These two losses to the Moline aggregation were off-set by the two wins that the Islanders registered over the Maroons during the season. These two setbacks were the only ones that the Plow City team suffered in the Northwest conference. When they traveled to the State play in Champaign, Moline went through to the semi-finals and there were beaten by the state champs. In the consolation they subdued Champaign for third place. This makes the Islanders look good in that the team that eliminated them from tourney play was the third place winner in the state meet.

This team has brought more honors to the high school than any team in quite a while. Among the distinctions that they received was a tie with Davenport for first in the Quad-city meet; the first time that an Island City team has placed that high since the league was organized in 1934. They also copped a share of Northwest honors for the first time since 1929-30, tying Moline. Speaking of Moline, they managed to beat Moline for the first time since 1933. Still along the lines of honors that they received, they were able to beat every Northwest conference team when they invaded their territory, a feat that no Rock Island team has duplicated in many a season.

This season, the team had two trips that were above the average run. One of them was during the Christmas holidays, which extended to Waverly and Monticello in an overnight trip. On this trip they came out fifty-fifty, winning from Monticello and losing to Waverly. The second trip was a surprise since a snowstorm necessitated making the trip to Galesburg by train. Because there was no return train until the next morning, it included an overnight stay.

Sophomore and Jr. Varsity Basketball

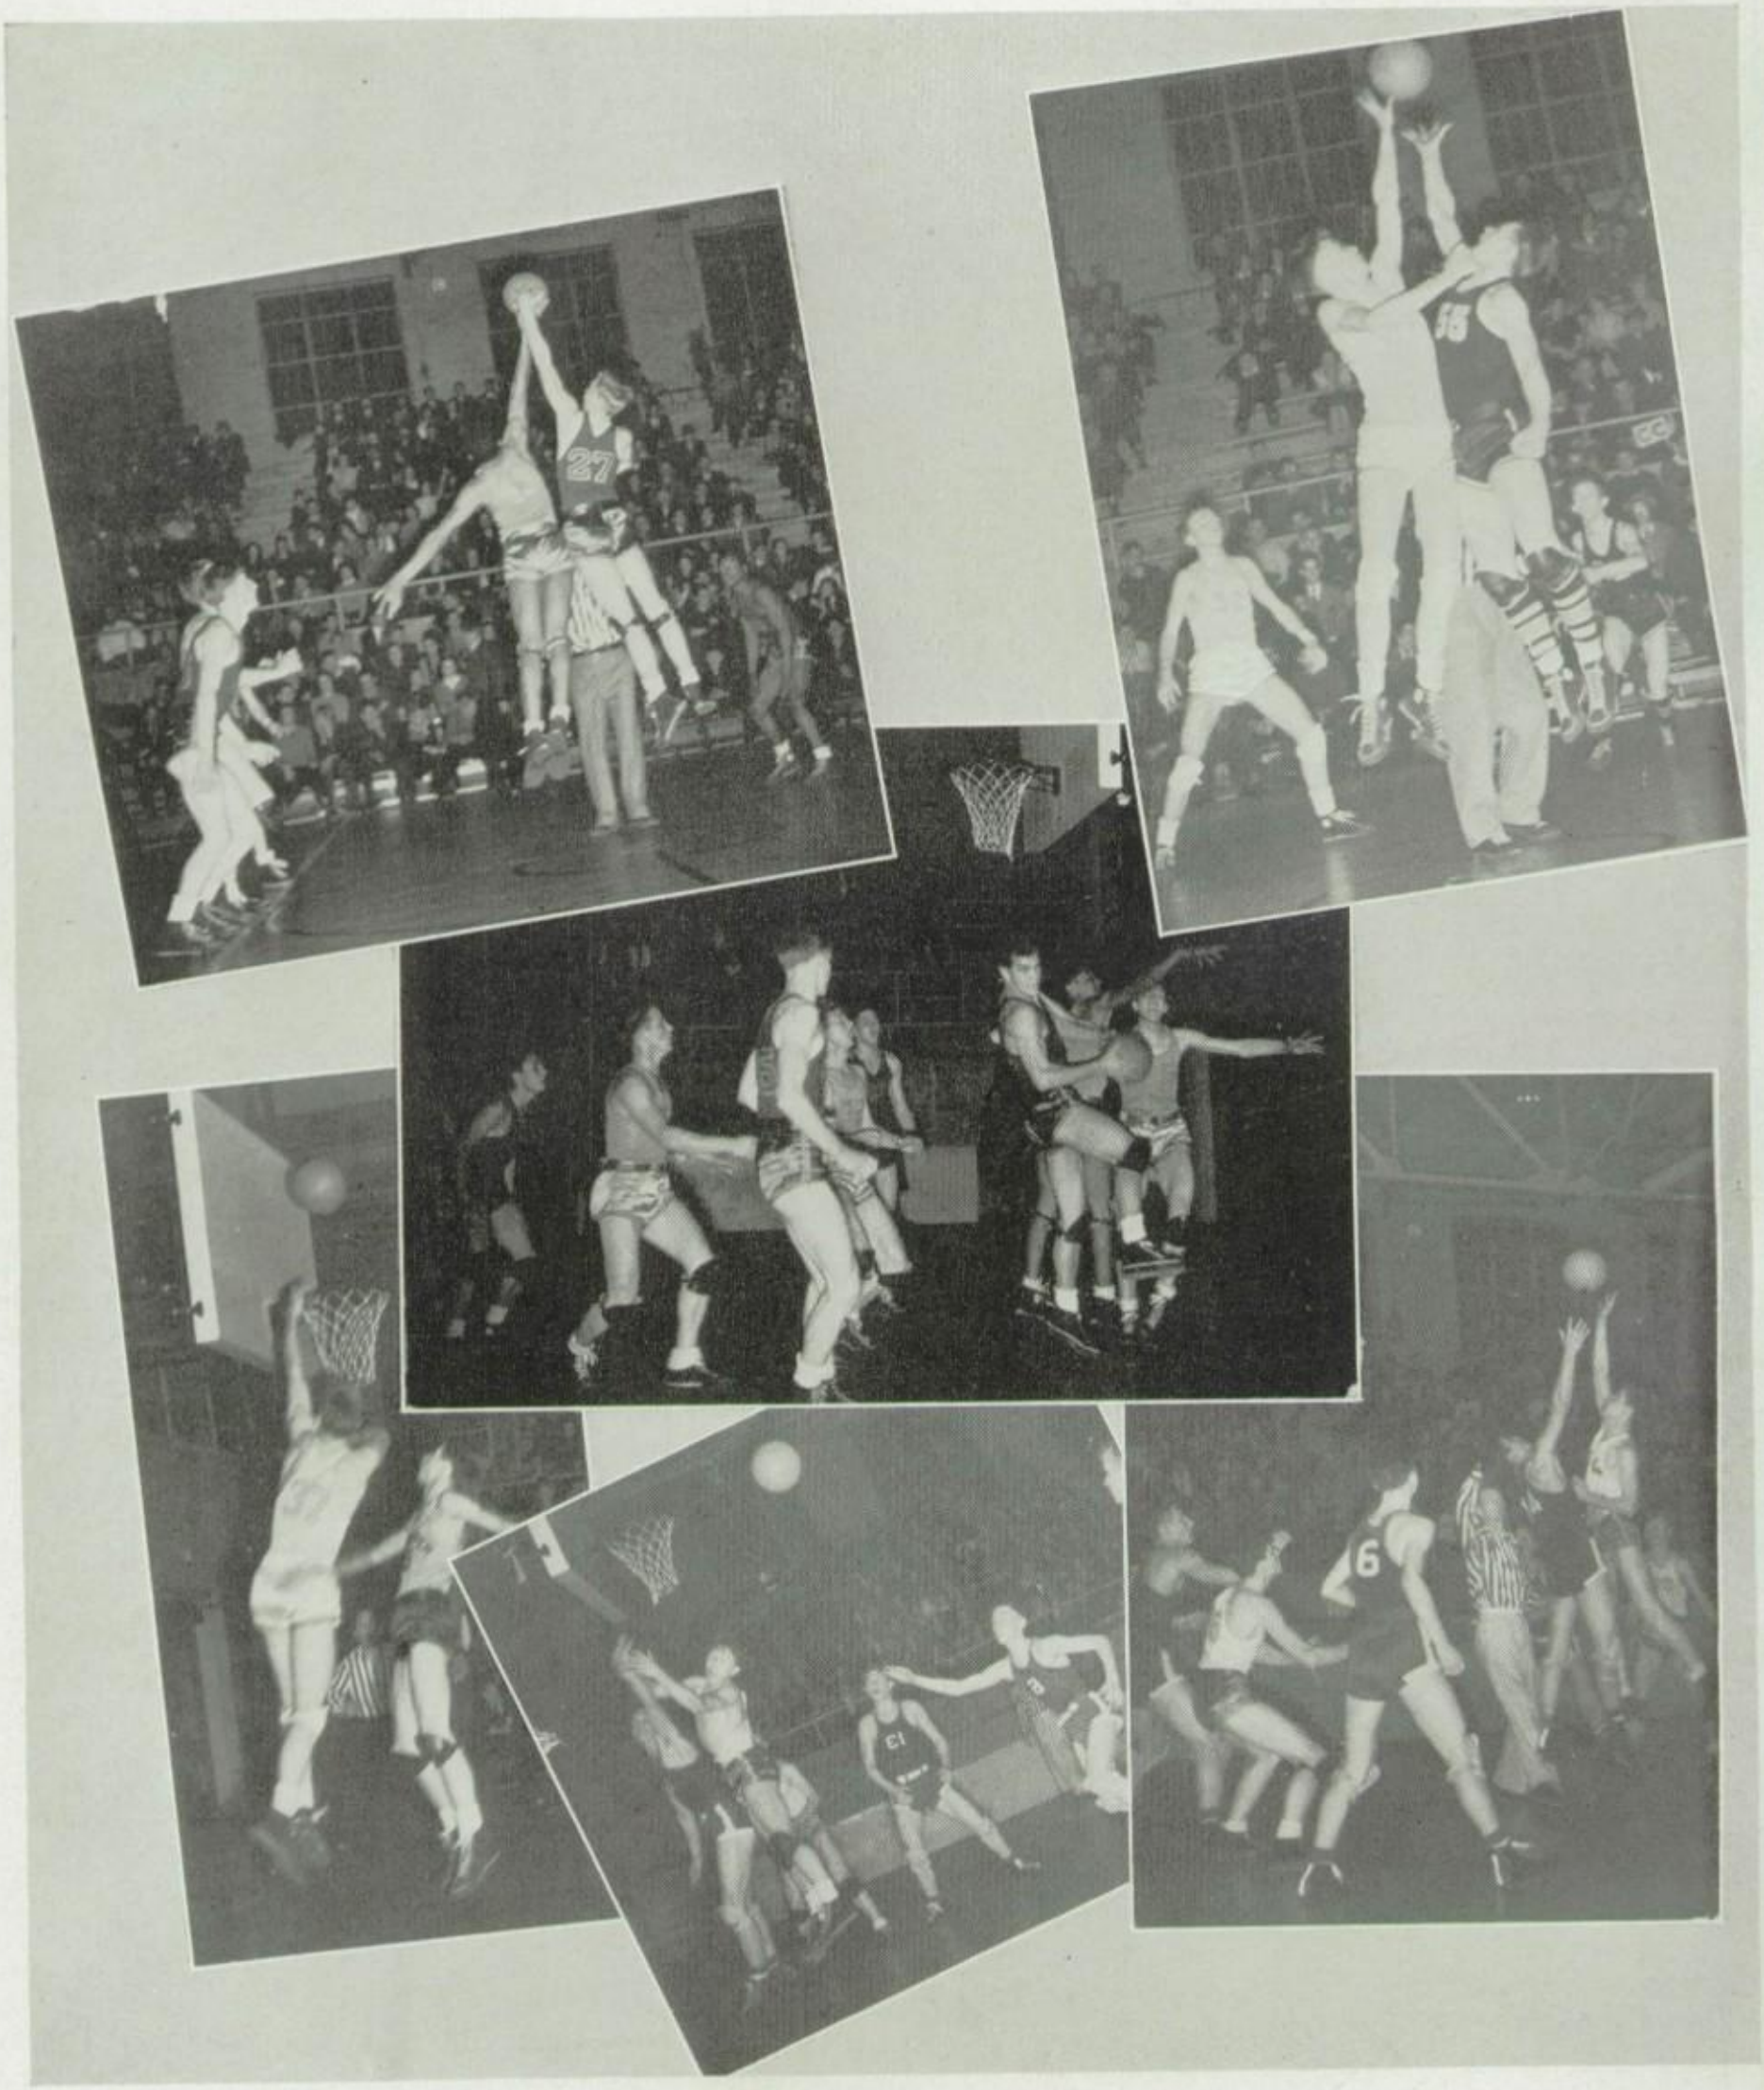
As far as the sophomore basketball squad was concerned, this was not such a good season, as they were only able to come through with several wins during the whole season This however does not mean that they were not trying, since many of their games ended in a close score, but with the Islanders on the long end of the score. One of the things that contributes to a mediocre record is the fact that Coach Lester Glick only has the boys for one season and does not have much time to get the boys to co-operate as a team. This is shown by the record toward the end of the season. During the last few games, the youngsters put up a hard fight, with the result that they came through with more wins.

These same boys are the ones who will make up the varsity team for the next two years. They will be especially important to Coach Scantlebury next season, since most of the team will graduate this spring.

Coach Dick Anderson, a newcomer to the coaching staff, took over the job of tutoring the junior varsity squad, which is in its second year of existence. They fared a little better than the sophomores, coming through with the wins predominating their season record. These boys also will be varsity candidates next year, and some of them played with the varsity during the past season. On this last season's team several of the regulars were junior varsity players last year.

It Has Happened Here



1. Tip-off at the start of the Galesburg game. 2. Lunny tops Kewanee center. 3. Lindeman takes one off the board against Galesburg. 4. Lunny adds another basket in the St. Joe game. 5. Zeke battles with Aledo. 6. Brown tops 'em in the Aledo battle.

Golf and Tennis

Among the minor sports is one which has been plugging along, and chalking up wins, but still not getting too much recognition. This is "golf" under the capable direction of J. R. Clark, mechanical drawing instructor. Although they did not take first in either the Northwest or Quad-city conferences, they finished up their season last fall with no losses in the other meets. They only had one tie which was with Moline. The rest of the time, they were never on the short end of the score.

Second place in the Northwest conference is nothing to sneeze at, however, and on top of this they finished way ahead of Moline and East Moline, both of whom came in ahead of the Crimson and Gold lads in the Quad-city league. The Northwest conference play-off was on the Aledo country club course, with Galesburg ending up in the top spot.

The Quad-city meet was held at the Shorthills country club, where Moline and East Moline do all their practicing, thus giving them a distinct advantage. They made good use of it to gain revenge for the losses they received from the Islanders earlier in the season. Next year the plan is to play four matches, one at each of the four cities, thus evening things up.

Minor sports seem to do exceptionally well at Rock Island high school and tennis is no exception. In fact, the tennis squad is one of the most consistently successful teams at the high school.

Under the tutelage of J. Hervey Shutts, they performed such a feat last fall, copping all four divisions in the Northwest play and also annexing the Quad-city title. It is the first time since 1935 that the Islanders have been able to win both the boys' singles and boys' doubles, and girls' singles and doubles, although they have taken the tournament.

When it comes to which one of the teams, the boys' or girls', is the best, the nod definitely goes to the laddies, who paraded through last fall's session with not one defeat to mar their record, while the girls fell down on the job, winning five, losing three and tying one. Last spring, several members of the boys' squad traveled to the state meets.

Cross-Country and Wrestling

Here is another team that Rock Island high school is justly proud of. In past years, it has come through in pinches to contribute much to the athletic standing of the Islanders, and last year was no exception.

They came out second in the Northwest conference meet held in Galesburg last fall. This added points toward the total championship, which the Islanders tied with Moline last year. In that meet Harvey Rowe came in first with Marion Shelton running a close second, but this was not sufficient to get the all-important first.

When the Woodruff team of Peoria invaded the Rock Island camp, they met with defeat; but when the Islanders traveled to Peoria to take part in an invitational meet, they came in fourth out of a field of eight.

Although this is only the second year that Coach Kenneth Greene has entered his wrestling team in interscholastic competition, they have already proven that it doesn't take the Islanders any time to get rolling once they start.

During the whole season, only two matches were lost. On return bouts against Clinton and Davenport they came out second best. Other results were wins over Fulton, Clinton, Davenport, the Iowa School for the Blind, and a tie with Dubuque for second in a quadrangular meet at Davenport.

This is a very good record, considering the length of time that the team has been in existence. Last year, which was their first, they were able to win during the season only one meet, which was over Davenport in the Rock Island gymnasium.

Steaming hot chile—a tired but happy basketball team—mix them together, and you have a picture of G. A. A.'s activities at high school.

"A sport for every girl and every girl in a sport" has been made possible through this organization. And how the girls take advantage of their opportunities! Shouts and cries re-echo through the gym as the girls wind up some activity.

Quietness reigns through the gym once every two weeks when the club meets in the activity rooms. Wending the gavel this year was Mary Katherine Carmack. Bonnie Rae Burke, vice-president, Mary Ann Willet, secretary, and Elaine Foley, treasurer, assisted her. Miss Elizabeth Samkowski is sponsor.

G. A. A. Board

Ping-pong and shuffleboard are only two of the lighter activities to be enjoyed after school. Badminton was inaugurated for the first time this year, proving very popular. Fencing was another successful newcomer.

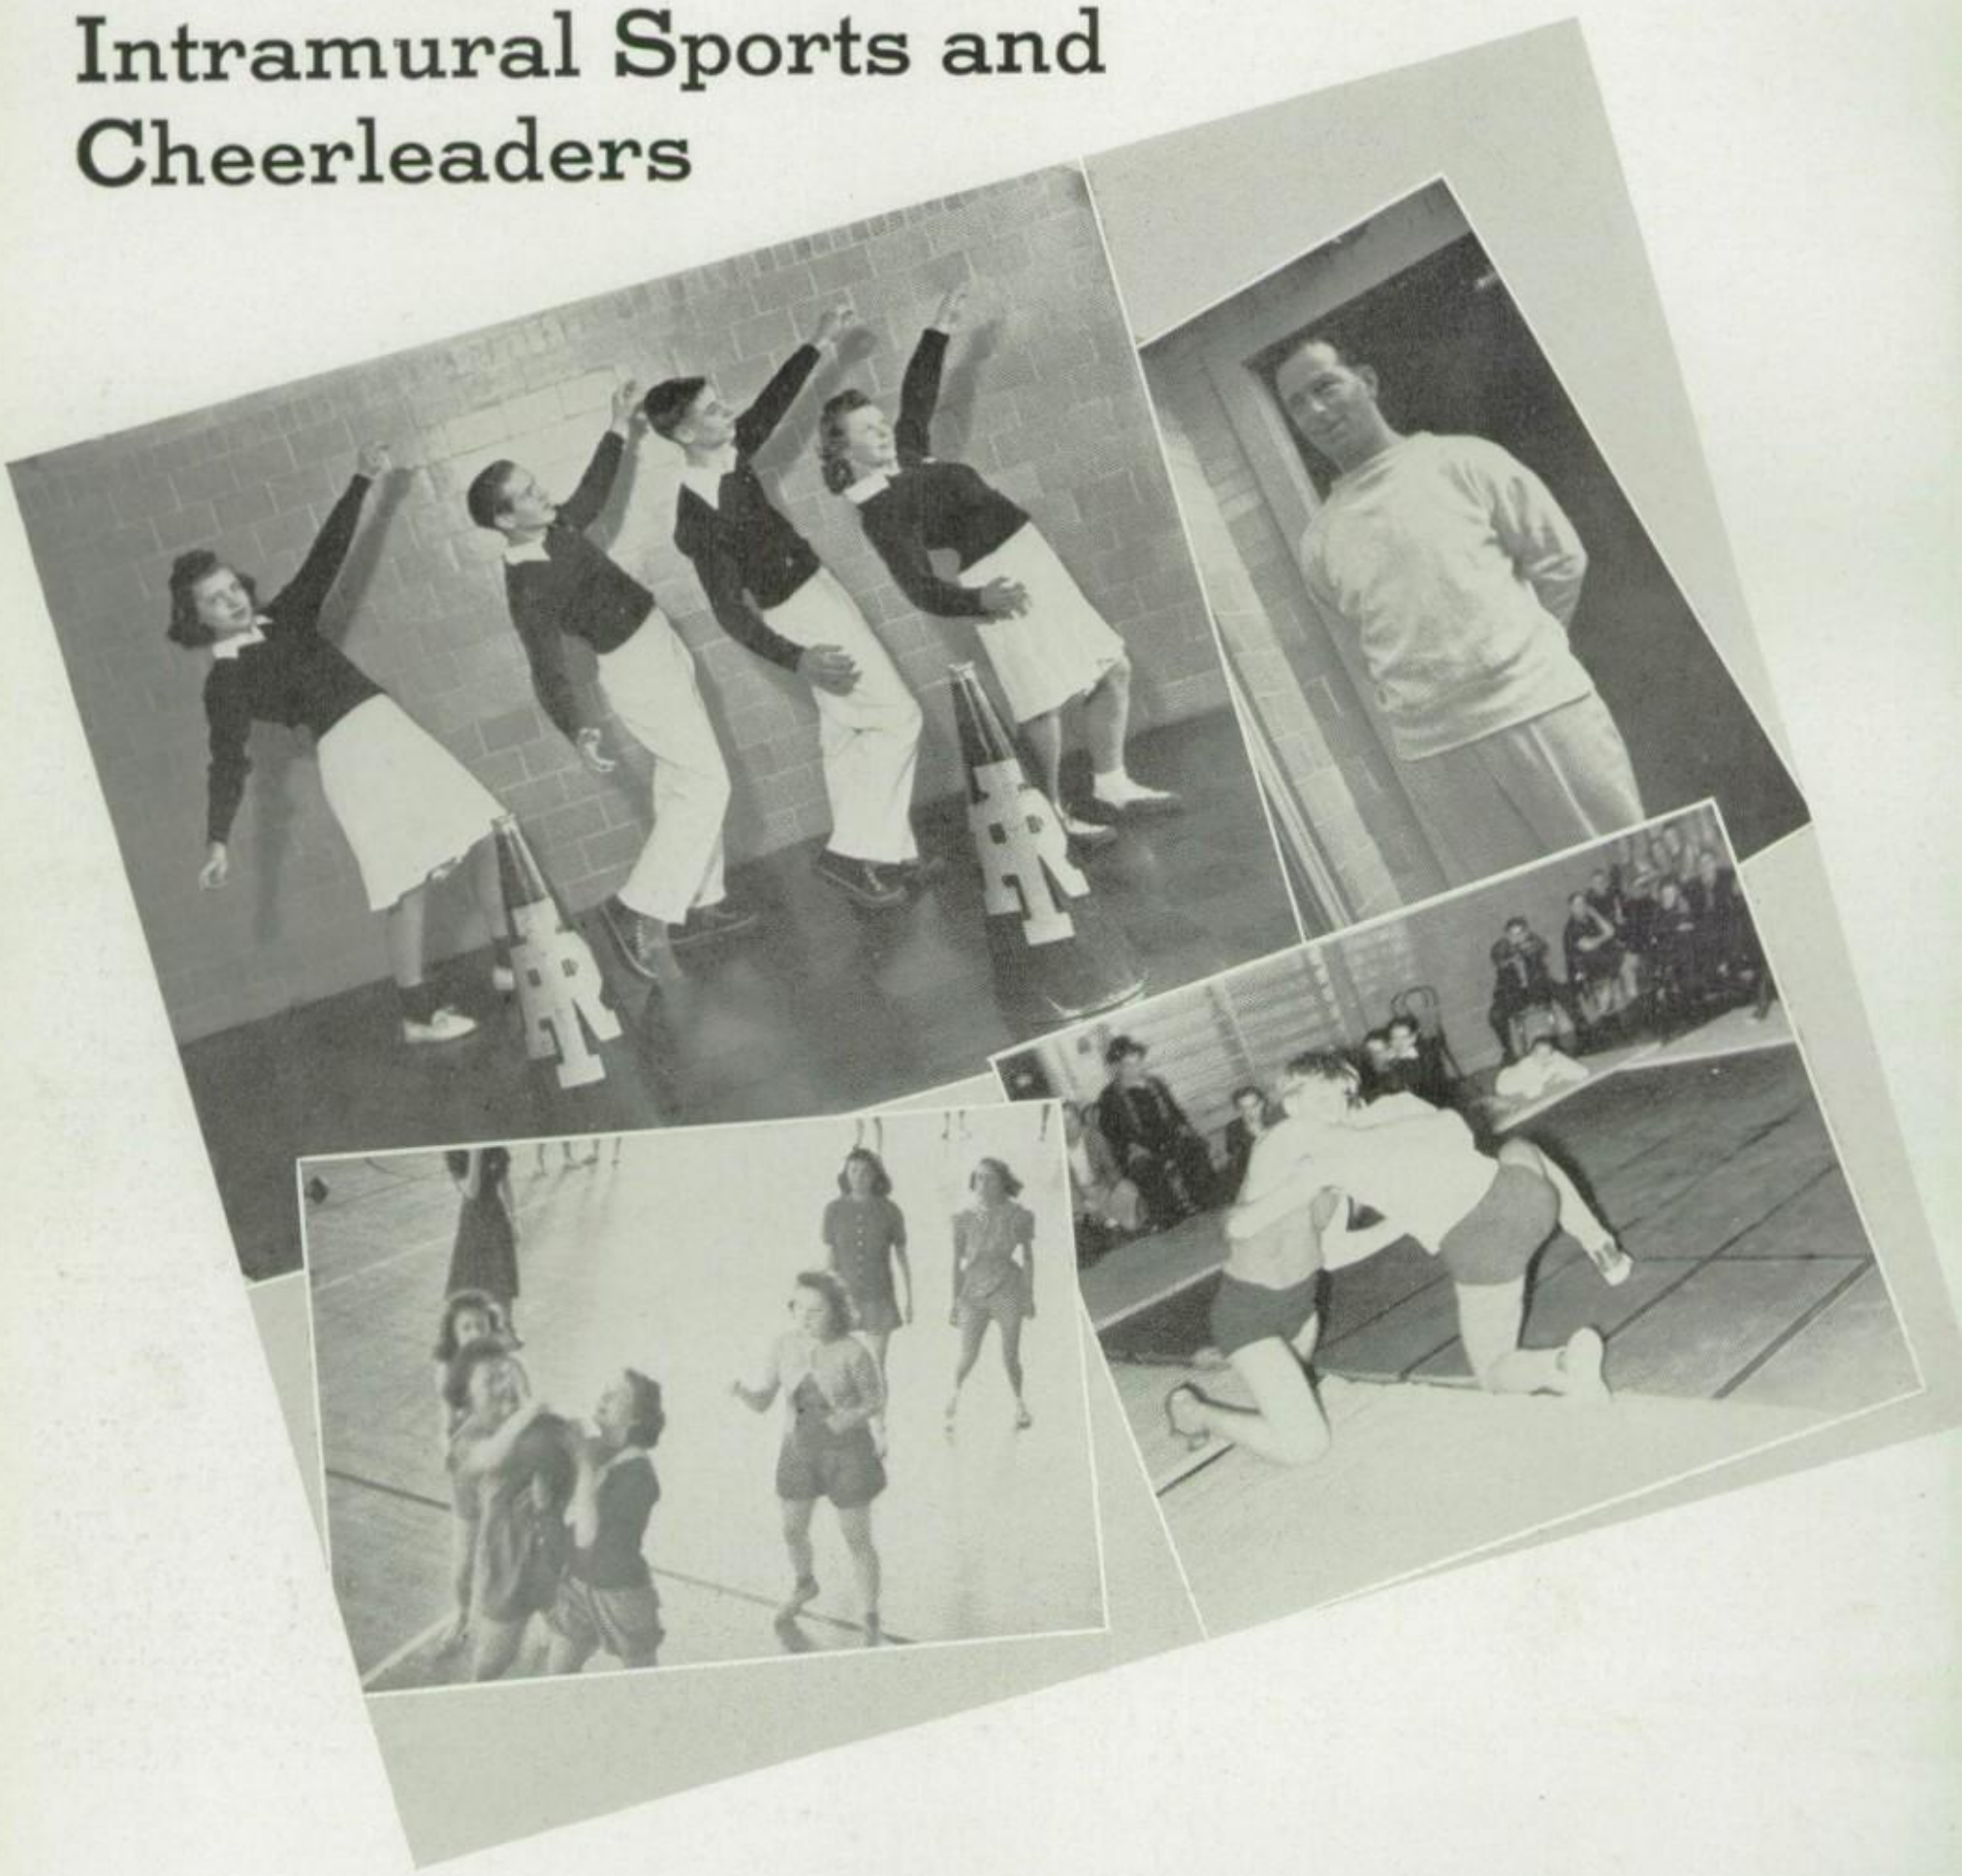
Each activity sponsored by G. A. A. has one cabinet member in charge. Cabinet members form an inner circle of G. A. A., determining its policies and activities.

In short, black costumes, Verna Starofsky, Beverly Eklund, and Marge Lefler demonstrate modern dance technique. Ideas or emotions are expressed through bodily movement in modern dance.

Volley ball and basketball vie for popularity of the after-school sports each year. This year volleyball had the edge over the other, according to Miss Samkowski. Rivalry is keen between classes playing in the tournaments. Second-half seniors won basketball after a closely contested game with first-half seniors. Hockey, soccer, softball, and archery are popular when the weather is warmer.

Intramural Sports and Cheerleaders



During the school year there is one branch of the sports program at Rock Island high school that is not heard of very often. It is doing some fine work nevertheless. This is the intramural program under the direction of Kenneth Greene and Elizabeth Samkowski, boys' and girls' physical education instructors. During the fall, the boys and girls who are not out for varsity athletics participate in touch football, archery, field hockey, horseshoes, and many other sports. During the winter, ping-pong, volleyball, basketball, and fencing take over the spotlight. In the spring, baseball, archery, horseshoes, and the usual summer sport take up the time of the students.

Another group in Rock Island high school which should receive some congratulations are the cheerleaders, pictured in the upper left hand corner of the page. Present at all the football and basketball games and the track meets, rain or shine, cold or hot, they have done a good job of building up the spirit of the high school students. Pictured left to right are: Lois Curry, John Branch, Ray Lohse, and Elane Ryan.

Seniors

President Carl Zwicker, Secretary Margaret Brashar, and Vice-president Bill Rinck make use of senior privilege—to enter school by front door.

As is usually the case, the seniors have set the pace for the juniors and sophomores to follow.

The intricate pattern that they have woven for their high school years is made up of a large variety of fine, distinct, outstanding, colorful, durable, and remarkable fibers.

The fine fibers of their school pattern represent their speech work. Northwest conference representatives in declam, extemp, and debate were seniors. "Spring Dance" and "You Can't Take It with You" proved their acting ability. Senior girls were also assistants in speech classes.

With few exceptions, it was seniors who pounded the gavel at practically every club meeting. These club activities were represented by the most distinct fibers in the pattern.

The outstanding fibers were made in athletics. This year Rocky High enjoyed a good many athletic victories. Everyone knows of the records made by seniors, in individual scores, outstanding football plays, tennis victories, and unusually fine sportmanship.

The durable fibers included in the pattern represent their help in office and other administrative work.

They can include a good many colorful fibers because of their accomplishments in the Band and Glee club.

Remarkable fibers are part of the pattern because of the change that has come over them in three years. From awe-stricken, timid sophomores, to matter-of-fact, confident seniors . . . that has been their growth.

This year's seniors will certainly be remembered for a good many years. This is true not only because they are the first class to spend their sophomore, junior, and senior years at the new high school, but also because of the intricate and outstanding pattern that their high school years represent.

Senior class sponsors are: Misses Schutz, Lauck, Stone, and Messrs. Shantz and McIlroy.

Juniors

Vice-president Bob Lundstedt, Secretary Elaine Foley, and President Wm. A. Johnson plan committees for the Junior-Senior prom.

This year's junior class has made a creditable showing. They seemed to take their plays pretty much to heart. When the Advanced Speech Classes presented plays, they were conscious about "Who Gets the Car Tonight." They went around saying, "Thank's Awfully," and never have so many juniors muttered "Thank You, Doctor," while everyone seemed to be having a "Happy Journey." When the junior class play was being rehearsed every junior's motto was: "Applesauce."

Other junior accomplishments were anything but mediocre. The way they ran off with declam, debate, and extemp honors, proves "that you can teach a young dog tricks." The juniors also did themselves proud at the amateur show, varying their mood from "Melancholy Mood" to "All's Well."

Some juniors have so distinguished themselves, in fields of athletics, that they are referred to not as mere "stars," but as meteors.

Do, re, mi, fa, sol, la, ti, do—tral la tral la tral la la la. If Rocky High's middle class had to sing for its suppers, it would get ten-course meals. The time that the junior class members have invested in the Glee Clubs has been paying big dividends. Faculty members, students, and other stockholders have claimed that never have the Glee Clubs had a more successful year.

The Junior-Senior prom was an appropriate climax to a year of junior accomplishments. The way in which everyone trekked for the orchestra, and for the refreshments indicated that "a good time was had by all."

Sophomores

Vice-president Bob Garrity, President Francis Boom, and Secretary Raymond Dasso discus plans for their successful "leap year" party.

Instead of entering Rocky High like lambs, the 1940 sophomore class came in as lions.

Sophomores used to be shy, frightened, apologetic "kids." This year's group were anything but backward, timid youngsters. On the contrary, they were definitely grown-up, sophisticated, "worldly wise" individuals.

The "sophs" haven't taken a back seat in any of the school activities. They have taken an active part in clubs, sports, music, declamation, extemp and debate.

The "Leap Year" party, which they sponsored, climaxed Rocky High's "Leap Week." And it turned out to be a perfect climax to a week of the ladies showing how the "well-educated gentleman will act." The theme for the party seemed to be—"Girl meets boy. Girl dates boy. Girl calls for boy. Girl cuts in on boy. Girl feeds boy. And, girl delivers boy."

It was especially at this party that the sophomores made as many changes and as much noise as an earthquake.

The following sophomore class advisers have done much to make this year's class an outstanding one: Misses Ekblad, Krueger, Maple, Miller, and Messrs. Huckins, and Baird.

In all their activities the "sophs" have been very much like volcanos. They blew up a lot of steam, made some definite, unexpected changes, and for the most part were as "hot" as lava.

Memo:

To: You, the Reader

From: Us, the Annual Staff

The one hundred business concerns whose advertisements are found in this book are friends of Rock Island high school. They have made it possible for us to put out this book for you. Because they have shown their support of our school and community by financially assisting this project, we are asking you to remember them when you select the concern with which you do business—not only in this spring of 1940 but years from now when you chance to glance again at this volume.

School days are over. . . . And you travel the pathway of life. . . . It will be pleasant to open the pages of your "Watch Tower" and relive the days at Rock Island High School. . . . The friendly folks, your classmates. . . . The romance and dreams of earlier days. . . . May you always enjoy this book.

To the graduating class we extend our best wishes for your success.

There's no

mystery-

Why Parker's year after year remains the favorite shopping center for young people!

The answer is simple—it's because Parker's is a store with a young viewpoint, progressive and awake as alert young people today—not missing a trick! We've lots of room, lots of helpful s e r v i c e — with all the charming little courtesies thrown in that make shopping at Parker's shopping for pleasure!

HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION

Seniors who look forward to careers in business, are invited to consider the professional business training offered by Moline Business College.

Our specialized courses—Secretarial, accounting, business administration, and Civil Service—supplement high school training, help to give "business focus" to the academic or commercial graduate, and entitle students to assistance of our Free Employment Department.

To help you in making your plans, we offer, without cost, a valuable booklet explaining the opportunities in the field of business. Phone, write, or call for your copy.

THE TRICK IS TO MAKE UP YOUR OWN ENSEMBLE

Center, above: Gotham Girl jacket and skirt to match perfectly. The cardigan ($7.98) buttons all the way up—has a suggestion of that torso-look, so popular now. The swing skirt ($3.98) may be worn with other jackets, with sweaters. Match or contrast the jacket and skirt; Blossom Blue, Greywing, Manda Green, Dove Rose, Sizes 12 to 20. (Wear yellow accessories with them.)

Right, above: Slack Suit by Rothley. A swagger slack suit that is easy, carefree and tailored to the ninth degree. It's called Rothley's new British slacks with British tunnel loops and belts, deep, roomy pockets, easy pleats, zipper closings and a shirt that looks equally as smart worn out, as in. Rose, Powder Blue, Seafoam, Green Beige. In sizes 12 to 20, $6.95.

Left, above: White Silk Jersey Formal and Silver Fox Cape ($275). It's a Mary Marvon Junior formal (exclusive at Petersen's) and doesn't she look just like a model out of Vogue? The hood can be worn on the head or tossed casually over the shoulders. The tight elastic band at the waist gives you the 22½ inch waist line of Scarlett O'Hara. The dress is starch white with one-eighth pleats. $14.95.

Looking Forward

PURSUING a progressive program of improvement over the years, the John Deere organization has constantly gone forward in developing and perfecting cost-reducing equipment for farmers in all parts of the world.

Through the lean years as well as in the prosperous years, there has never been a let-down in the efforts of the company's vast engineering staff . . . men working out new ideas . . . developing improved designs in farm machinery . . . craftmen in laboratory, field and factory testing again and again, under every conceivable condition, raw materials and finished products . . . making certain that every machine, in every part, measures up to the John Deere standard of quality.

In every step of developing and manufacturing John Deere farm equipment, the dominating influence has always been the century-old principle on which the business was established, a principle which was so aptly expressed by John Deere when he said:

"I will never put my name on an implement that hasn't in it the best that is in me."

Memo:

To: YOU, THE ADVERTISER

From: US, THE ANNUAL STAFF

Thanks for your help in putting out this 1940 edition of THE WATCH TOWER as most of you have helped other staffs in the past. We at Rock Island high school know you will serve us in your businesses as well as you have aided us in producing this book. We feel certain that each member of the class of 1940 appreciates this gesture on your part.
